FORTY-THIRD YEAR. LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, APRIL 24, 1924. TWO CENTS.

KILLS A MAN; FLEES

PRETTY SLAYER IN A GETAWAY

CHICAGO, April 24.—Mrs. Wanda Stopa, twenty-four, beautiful lawyer and former assistant district attorney of Chicago, who today shot and killed a caretaker, fired at the wife of a wealthy advertising man with whom she was infatuated, apparently has escaped the ring of hundreds of police thrown about Chicago and suburbs, it was indicated this afternoon.

Ted Glascow, her husband, who was with her at the time of the killing, also has escaped, Lieut. Harry Goldstein, of the county highway police, notified police headquarters here. Earlier in the day highway police reported Glascow captured.

Mrs. Stopa shot and killed Henry Manning, caretaker for Y. K. Smith, Chicago advertising man. The killing occurred at the Smith home in Palos Park, a suburb. Mrs. Stopa went to the home to shoot Smith, she told Mrs. Smith. When Manning interfered, Mrs. Stopa shot him and fired two shots at Mrs. Smith. Then leaping out of the first floor window she screamed she was on the way to kill Smith in his downtown office, and fled. All this time Glascow sat in the cab. The cab sped away in the direction of Chicago, and all trace of it was lost.

Mrs. Stopa and Glascow were understood to have come here from New York a few days ago, and belief is they will try to get back to the metropolis.

Smith told police that Mrs. Stopa was infatuated with him and had threatened to shoot him unless he let his wife and married her.

"Last October Mrs. Stopa asked me to go away with her," Smith said. "She said her love for me had reached a point where she must have me or go abroad. She asked for $1,000 for the trip. I refused it. In February she told me the same thing but this time she threatened to kill me. I haven't seen her in some time."

Smith said he was only a friend of the woman and did not reciprocate her affection.

FRENCH INTO AIR CONTEST

SECRETLY SEND PLANE TO JAPAN FOR FLIGHT RECORD.

First Jump From Villa Coublay to Constantinople, Expected to Be Longest Ever Made.

PARIS, April 24.—France today entered the race for long distance flights supremacy.

The flyers hoped to establish a record for sustained distance flight. The first jump was to be an unprecedented one, a non-stop flight to Constantinople, 1,950 kilometers.

The air ministry did not announce the departure officially because it is planned, unless the plans succeeds in reaching Constantinople in one jump, to call it a false start.

The most careful preparations have been made to show France's predominance in the air.

The airplane is a special type Breguet which was tested recently. It was flown by French army officers.

Officials of the ministry refused to confirm or deny the United Press information that the plane had started but admitted they had been planning a "practice flight."

It is believed the aim is to beat Major MacLaren, British round the world flyer, to Japan.

The United Press learned that the air ministry wanted to enter a world flight race with the Americans and British, but that owing to insufficient credits the flight was cut to a single spectacular one to Japan in long jumps.

The air ministry was secretive regarding the probable landing places and said it had received no news yet of the plane's progress.

Lieut. Pelletier D'Oisy was at the "stock" when the big Breguet plane took off at Villa Coublay at dawn. It was 4:30 a. m. when he circled the airdrome and flew off southeastward.

After he had left, it was reported that the first non-stop jump might end at Bucharest instead of Constantinople.

BUDAPEST, April 24.—Lieut. Pelletier D'Oisy, piloting a special Breguet airplane in which he is attempting a non-stop flight from Paris to Bucharest, flew over Budapest in the direction of the Roumanian capital late today.

D'Oisy is making a flight to Japan, launched in secret by the French air ministry. He left Paris at 4:30 a. m.

WHITE SLAVE TRIO SEIZED

CHICAGO, April 24.—Two men and a woman said by police to be principals in a nation-wide white slave ring, and three girls, believed to be their victims were taken into custody here today.

One of the alleged victims has been identified as Helen Stocks, Chicago high school girl, who disappeared from her fashionable home last Sunday.

The other girls believed to be victims gave their names as Anna Richardson, twenty-five, of Baltimore and aKthryn Fisk, twenty-two, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The men claimed to be Edward Fisk, of New York, and James Richardson of Baltimore. The woman, police believe, is their accomplice, gave her name as Mrs. Fay Seibert, twenty-five, New York.

Mrs. Seibert and Fisk, together with the Stocks girl, were arrested on a street corner. They claimed to be on their way to Milwaukee. An address found in their luggage brought about the arrest of the other three.

The police will turn the case over to the federal government for prosecution under the white slave laws.

ZEHRUNG FOR PLAYGROUNDS

STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF HARMON FOUNDATION PLAN.

Organization Offers Two Thousand Maximum Toward Purchase of Ground to Furnish Kids Place to Romp.

Mayor Zehrung is strongly in favor of acceptance, under the Harmon foundation plan, of $2,000 to be used toward purchase of ground in development of the playground movement. This foundation, headquarters in New York, offers a $2,000 maximum gift for playfield purchase with the condition that the field shall not consist of less than two acres with a maximum per acre price of not to exceed $1,000. There are other conditions such as proper maintenance and control. To date no applications have been received from Nebraska.

"I am heartily in favor of it," said the mayor who fights the battles of the American boy every day in person and on the phone. The boy is chased from the street and when he finds an empty lot on which to play, the neighbors complain. If he bats his ball into a garden, there's a neighborhood row.

The playground movement has experienced rapid growth in Lincoln and other cities during the past few years. It is something new and, to the mayor at least, something refreshing to have someone else offer to foot the bill. The city owns a playground 700 by 300 feet on Twenty-seventh street, between Potter and fair. Trees and bushes have been planted. Park Boss Edinborough is to install a drinking fountain and Commissioner Schroeder will provide a pair of lights.

"Do the kids use it?" asked the mayor. "Say, I was out there a few days ago and it's just the finest sort of playground and the boys and girls in that end of town know it."

Then there's the F street park and the playground with baseball diamond by the swimming pool and the other one in the park on A street.

"This strikes me as an excellent proposition," said the mayor. "Personally I shall be very glad to cooperate with the parent-teacher association or any other interested organization. We haven't much money to spend but will do the best we can. The two acre tract is not large but at least is an entering wedge. Certainly the city would maintain the playground. We would plant trees, install a fountain and do everything possible to induce the boys to play where the ycannot worry or annoy others."

CROP SUMMARY FOR A NEBRASKA WEEK

Temperature Below Normal, High Wind and Light Showers With a Fair Amount of Sunshine.

G. A. Loveland, meteoroligist has issued the following summary of weather and crop conditions in Nebraska for the week ending April 22: The week was cool with adequate sunshine, considerable high wind, and only light showers. The temperature averaged 4 degrees bolew normal in the northern counties and 3 degrees below in the central and southern. In most of the state the weekly rainfall was less than one-tenth inch but in a few northeastern counties it slightly exceeded a quarter inch. The week was favorable for field work. Oats seeding progressed rapidly and is about finished in central and southern counties and well begun in northwestern. Preparation of the corn ground has made good progress. Spring wheat seeding is about finished. Preparation of ground for sugar beets is in progress and some have begun planting. Winter wheat still looks well and grass, alfalfa, and small grain generally are doing well but rain would be beneficial. Fruit buds are swelling and in southern counties apricot and plum trees are in bloom.

Following is the weekly rainfall report.

VOTE ON TRANSPORTATION

Chamber of Commerce Registers Its Stand in Referendum Sent Out From Washington.

Lincoln chamber of commerce directors cast their vote in the referendum on transportation legislation being conducted by the United States chamber, after hearing the recommendations of the traffic committee, which has made a study of the fourteen propositions involved. The vote, in brief:

For a national policy of development for rail, water and highway transportation in the interest of economy and efficiency.

For continuance of the transportation act of 1920.

Against the principle of recapture of a fair proportion of excess railway earnings as essential to the rule of rate making.

Against legislation to facilitate consolidation thru voluntary action, subject to approval of the interstate commerce commission.

For connection and coordination of terminal facilities and their joint use.

For solution of rate and other railway problems thru federal and state administrative agencies rather than thru legislation.

Against readjustment of retail freight rates instead of a general reduction at this time.

For a survey by army engineers and submission of plans and priority schedules for development of water transportation.

For continuance of barge lines on the Mississippi and Warrior rivers, to determine the possibilities for inland waterways.

For furtherance of water transportation thru rail-and-water routes and other cooperative methods.

Against optional store door collection and delivery.

For use of motor transportation to replace some rail carriers and relieve yard and terminal congestion.

For regulation of motor transport rates by the same agencies controlling other common carrier charges.

THIS IS ENGINEERS' NIGHT.

The buildings at the engineering colleeg will be open to the public Thursday evening in celebration of engineers night. In the lecture room of the Chemistry building, an experiment depicting a scene from Shakespeare will be made. Among th interesting sights in the Mechanic Arts building will be the breaking of concrete beams and stell rods, and tying knots in 1-4 inch steel rods This will be done in the material testing laboratory. A high frequency demonstration will be given in the Electrical Engineering building as well as many others. At 9, 9:15, and 9:30 in the foundry laboratory in the Mechanical Engineering building, molten lead will be poured into the molds. Liquid air will be made in the basement of the same building.

STANDARD PLANS TO BUILD

Construction Work to Total Over $32,000,000 Announced for Midwest.

CHICAGO, April 24.—New construction work totaling $32,672,000 is on the program for 1924 by the Standard Gas and Electric company it was announced today in the annual report. The company operates throughout the middlewest and in portions of the south and far west.

President H. M. Byllesby reports the balance available for dividends is the largest in the history of the company. The present rate of $7 per share on the common stock is amply justified by the earnings the report said.

Net revenue for 1923 totaled $7,103,425 compared with $4,652,126 in 1922.

OMBRELLAS OVER MUNY SWIM TANK

This, at Least, Suggested by One Who Explains That Water in All Rivers and Lakes Tumbles First Thru Air.

Umbrellas over the muny tank—not for the purpose of preventing pink shoulders from becoming overly browned but to cause water to hang in the air and draw warmth. This is the suggestion of one who would solve the cold water problem. The idea reached Mayor Zehrung by mail Thursday. The originator does not give his or her name.

"He's got an idea all right," said the executive.

The writer calls attention to the fact that all of the water in rivers and lakes and ponds must some day have fallen thru air. This gives it that comfy feeling. Now, says the man of ideas, let inlet pipes be constructed some eighteen feet above the pool surface with umbrella like aprons around them. These umbrellas, he says, will spread the water and cause it to drop slowly thru a warm air. He advances the theory that this would permit swimming at all times.

"The suggestion is fair," said the mayor, "but expensive if carried out. Undoubtedly the water would be warmed but we must bear in mind [illegible] the water would become foul [illegible] require the emptying process the same as now. Next year we hope to install the filteration plant. We have appropriated money for it

SAY EXPERT WAS BIASED

OIL COMMITTEE MEMBERS ACCUSE ENGINEER LEWIS.

Letter in Which He Endorsed Fall's Action Is Shown Tulsa Expert—Denies He Was Prejudiced.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—James O. Lewis, oil engineer of Tulsa, Ok., one of the experts who made an examination of the geological structure of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve for the senate oil committee today was charged by committee members with deception of the investigators.

Attacking Lewis' testimony before the committee yesterday in which he said he considered the Teapot lease justified on account of drainage, Senator Walsh, Montana, declared he was convinced that Lewis was biased in favor of the lease before he made his investigation.

"You accepted employment by this committee to study the Teapot field and report back whether or not the lease was advisable in the light of its geological structure," said Walsh. "You were employed under the impression that you were unbiased."

Walsh produced a letter purporting to have been written by Lewis and sent to A. W. Ambrose, a former official of the bureau of mines, previous to his employment.

"This is an endorsement of Secretary Fall's action. This shows that you were a rabid supporter of the lease even before you had studied it for us."

Lewis defended himself with the statement that "every scientific man has opinions." He also contended the committee had "misread" the letter if they accepted it as an evidence of deception on his part.

"I was not prejudiced. My report was entirely impersonal and based on scientific study."

Lewis and Frederick G. Clapp made their field investigation together for the committee in 1923. Lewis reported that the Teapot Dome was being drained, while Clapp's report stated there was no drainage because of a fault in the geological structure.

Afetr Lewis was excused, the committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

of the national vaudeville association have always been more than generous in giving their services for all kinds of benefits. No charity or good cause of any kind is turned down by members of the profession who are approached for this kind of assistance. For their own members they maintain a fund for the relief of the sick and distressed. At the present time many vaudeville performers suffering from tuberculosis are being maintained at Saranac lake, Denver and Phoenix. The drafts upon the fund are so numerous that it is necessary to collect funds by giving an occasional benefit. This is the nature of the "Midnight Frolic" which is to be given at the Lincoln auditorium beginning at 10:30 on Friday night. Orchestras and vaudeville acts are coming here from half a dozen wetsern cities to put on a varied and brilliant program. A small admission fee is charged and there is no law to prevent customers from adding a few pennies to help give the total a dignified air. This will not be an invitation affair. All are invited to join in the dance and enjoy the stunts given by fifteen visiting vaudeville teams.

STRASSBURGER LEAD MORE

More Complete Returns in Pennsylvania Show Pinchot Decisively Losing.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—R. B. Strassburger's lead over Governor Pinchot in the race for delegate at large continued to pile up here today as more complete returns from all parts of the state came in. Returns from 6772 election districts out of 8,119 show Strassburger's total is 460,601 while Pinchot has 239,246.

Virtually complete returns from 38 of the 67 counties of the state, representing 3,813 districts, showed State Chairman Harry W. Baker leading all the candidates for delegate at large.

INSISTS ONE MAY FIGHT AND WORK

Mr. Cowgill Wants the World to Know That He Keeps Moving Regardless of Quarrels With a Colleague.

In order to prove his contention that one may fight and toil without working injury to the public cause, Commissioner Cowgill Thursday released a story of alleged accomplishment. He said that all bad streets have been graded with th heavy outfit and that bad dirt streets do not exist to his knowledge. Alleys, he said, are being straightened and smoothed by aid of a small tractor and baby grader. The North Fourteenth street bridge is about done. Culverts near Sixteenth and Y will ready in another week. Notice has been served on the Missoudi Pacific to pave and build walks at the new viaduct where the tracks cross Thirty-fifth.

"We are cleaning pavement at the rate of 48 blocks a day," he said. "The cost is but $1.25 a block as compared with $2.09 a year ago. We also are flushing streets in resident sections in connection with clean-up work. This was not done a year ago. In the business section five men do the cleaning that ten men did a year ago. We do it at night when we can get real action. This should convince the public that regardless of controversies, we are plugging away."

Commissioner Dayton and City Clerk Berg drove to Omaha Thursday. There are no new developments on the question of what to do with Mr. Cowgill. That member issued the following bulletin relative to alleged use of downtown gutters as waste paper baskets:

WOMAN ARRESTED FOR SETTING FIRE

Mrs. Grace Mattison of Central City Pleads Not Guilty to Firing Her Own Residence.

State Fire Marshal L. B. Frye has received a report from Inspector L. J. Butcher of the arrest of Mrs. Grace Mattison of Central City on the charge of setting fire to her dwelling. She was released on a $500 cash bond and will be given a preliminary hearing soon. The county attorney filed a complaint upon which she was arrested. She pleaded not guilty.

The inspector reports that the fire was discovered Sunday, April 20, at half past 3 o'clock in the afternoon, about twenty minutes after Mrs. Mattison had left with a man named Peck, aged seventy-six, living at Aurora. She went to Aurora with him and did not return until the sheriff brought her back to Central City. City firemen who extinguished the fire before it had done any damage found a five gallon can of gasoline, in the kitchen covered with old clothes, wall paper, with loose papers on top. This pile of inflammable material was burning. An electric iron was found on an ironing board, connected with a socket, but the board was on fire on the under side and not on top where the iron was found.

One year ago Mrs. Mattison collected $1,500 insurance as a result of a fire in this same house. It was then insured for $4,500 and the household goods for $2,000. The inspector reports that the property cost her $2,500. Mrs. Mattison owned and occupied the property. It is now insured for $2,500 and the inspector estimates its value at $2,000. The contents were insured for $1,500 and are estimated at $800 by the inspector. The house was tightly closed and shades drawn. Lack of air prevented the fire from making much headway.

POSSE SEIZES BEATER OF MAN

ROCKLEIGH, N. J., April 24.—After withstanding a siege by an armed posse for hours today, Sydney Hoppel, wanted by police for an alleged attack on his brother-in-law, was captured and locked in the town jail.

His brother, Herman, who aided Sydney in the fight with the posse, escaped and is being hunted by police.

Surrounded in their home here by a posse of outraged citizens and armed deputy sheriffs, the two brothers withstood a siege for hours today, firing intermittently from a window.

A request was sent to the barracks of the New Jersey state police at Hackensack for armed assistance in effecting the men's arrest. They are wanted for brutally beating their brother-in-law, Harry Schaffer, of Palisades.

With the brothers in the besieged house, which is in a lonely part of town was their aged mother. Fear of injuring Mrs. Hoppel kept the posse and sheriffs from rushing the dwelling.

A steady rifle fire was directed at the house. Windows were shattered. [illegible] the fire was returned, now from one corner, now from another.

The Hoppel boys objected strenuously to their sister Flora's marriage to Schaffer a week ago. Wherever the couple went on their honeymoon they received threatening letters from Herman and Sydney.

The Hoppel brothers broke Schaffer's door down Sunday, choked him to insensibility and beat him mercilessly.

When Schaffer recovered consciousness, he told his story and citizens set out in search of his assailants.

Late yesterday deputy sheriffs from New York and New Jersey, patrolling the road in an automobile, saw a man leap from a clump of bushes and run to a deserted barn. Entering with drawn revolvers, they arrested Herman Hoppel.

As a trooper was about to put handcuffs on the man, Hoppel tripped him, knocked down another deputy and escaped into nearby woods.

Knowledge that the brothers had left $1,500 in their home led to the lonely house where the mother kept anxious vigil being closely watched. Sometime during the night the brothers slipped home. A deputy hiding behind a tree near the house was fired upon. When reinforcements reached him a fusillade from an upper window sent them all scurrying for cover. The brothers had an unlimited supply of ammunition and one of them was a crack shot, having been a policeman.

INSURANCE IS CHANGING

Agents Must Sell Service and Not Merely a Policy, Says Eastern Life Expert.

K. A. Luther and [illegible] G. Wells respectively agency secretary and assistant of the Aetna life, were the guests of honor at the University club at luncheon Thursday of M. L. Palmer, state agent, and the Lincoln Life Underwriters. Following the meal each gentleman made a brief talk.

Mr. Luther said that the ideas and practices of insurance men were rapidly changing. The business was no longer that of a peddler or barker, a man selling thousands but that of a man who was selling service. The successful insurance man of the future will be the man who first analyzes the needs of a man before trying to sell him, and then present a program that will fit those needs. He said that a man to whom has been sold life insurance may let it lapse when a stress comes, but if it is a program that has been sold him he will go to great lengths to see that it is carried out. In this way only can the lapse ratio be lessened.

Mr. Wells said that service is the rent a man pays for occupying a place in the world. The service an agent can best perform is in seeing that the program he sells a man will do for him what it is promised it will do. He gave a general sales talk, illustrating it with methods of approach and ways of answering the stock objections of prospects.

BALLOONS IN NEW CONTEST

Seven Drifting North From San Antonio.

SEEN IN ARKANSAS, OKLAHOMA

Homing Pigeons Carried, in Case of Difficulty.

National Elimination Race Begins With Weather Conditions Ideal for Long or Record Breaking Flights.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 24.—Seven balloons drifted northward today for the national elimination contest race after taking off here at 5 p. m. yesterday. Air currents indicated that the pilots should be over southeastern Missouri today.

Weather conditions were considered ideal for long and possibly record breaking flights. All pilots were well equipped with food and clothing and expected to reach Canada.

Homing pigeons were also carried by the pilots in order to report their whereabouts in case of difficulty.

Capt. H. E. Honeywell of St. Louis was the first to leave the field, amid cheers of thousands. He was followed closely by the following: B. H. Fournier, San Antonio; Maj. Norman W. Peek, piloting army balloon No. one; Lieut. A. C. McKinley, army balloon No. 3; Capt. E. W. Hill, army balloon No. 2; W. T. Van Orman, oodyear III, Akron, O., and Herbert Von Thaden, Detroit.

CHICKASHA, Ok., April 24.—A balloon from San Antonio, participant in the national elimination race, passed over Chickasha this morning at 8 a. m. The altitude was estimated at about 7,000 feet and the balloon was drifting northeast driven by a strong wind.

ELDORADO, Ark., April 24.—A balloon in the race from San Antonio was sighted near here drifting northward today.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., April 24.—A balloon was sighted near here shortly before 9 a. m., drifting in a northeasterly direction. Its altitude was estimated at 1,000 feet.

TRY TO SAVE BOY SLAYER

Dominick Galluzzo of Chicago Killed Father When He Beat His Mother.

CHICAGO, April 24.—A movement was under way today to save Dominick Galluzzo, sixteen, from punishment for killing his father.

"I just went crazy when I saw him beating mother," was his simple explanation to police.

Mrs. Mary Galluzzo, the mother, told police that her husband, Charles had been beating her with great regularity for the last five years.

"He has knocked out or broke all my teeth," she said. "He was beating me and kicking me when Dominick tried to stop him. Then there was a fight and Dominick shot him."

PRESS M'NARY BILL FOR PASSAGE SOON

House Agriculture Committee Reports Out Farm Relief Measure by Vote of Fourteen to Six.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The McNary-Haugen bill which would create a $200,000,000 corporation to buy and sell basic farm products in an effort to maintain pre-war price levels was signed out by the house agriculture committee today as the outstanding farm relief measure to be pressed for passage at this session of congress.

Rejecting all other alternative measures which were urged as substitutes, the committee reported out the McNary-Haugen measure by the unexpectedly large vote of fourteen to six.

The Norris-Sinclair which would have provided a government corporation to market wheat, was rejected sixteen to four.

The Voigt bill, similar to the McNary-Haugen bill in operation but limited to wheat was voted down sixteen to two

The Yoakum plan, which would have built up an independent cooperative marketing system owned and controlled by farmers, was thrown out by a viva voce vote

PLAGUE TAKES 17,000.

ALLAHBAD, India, April 24—More than 17,000 persons have died of the plague, which has been ravaging the Punjab since the first of the year, during the past fortnight, according to statistics made public Wednesday.

Of 70,000 cases reported since January 1, 54,000 have been fatal.

CAN ATTEND SHOWS

—P. & A.

Rosie Lehenbauer

Here is a precedent! Judge Burks of the superior court of Los Angeles has ordered that Rosie Lehenbauer be permitted to attend picture shows with her beau. The girl's appearance in court was occasioned by a legal battle for her custody between her father and her mother. Rosie's mother under whose care she had previously been placed, had objected to the young man, it was stated.

HIS PASSING IS DEPLORED

CAPITOL COMMISSION MOURNS ARCHITECT GOODHUE.

Governor Bryan to Call Meeting of Commissioners to Consider Future Building Program.

The sudden death of Bertram G. Goodhue, architect for the capitol commission, was a shock to members of that body. Governor Bryon, chairman, was unable to say what effect the death of Mr. Goodhue have upon the future of the building now in course of construction. He will call a meeting of the commission within a few days to consider the matter. As the plans in general have all been prepared it is assumed the details of their development can be carried on by Mr. Goodhue's estate or by his executors.

"The Nebraska capitol was his masterpiece," said Governor Bryan. "Any change discussed or suggested that altered his design he would fight for as a father fights for his child. The new capitol, when completed will stand as a monument to the architect who conceived it as well as a monument to the state, and it will be considered more of a monument in view of his sudden death.

"News of the death of Mr. Goodhue was not only a shock but a severe loss to the state. His association with the capitol commission have been very pleasant. No one could come in touch with him without being impressed with his ability as a great architect and his conscientious interest in his work. It is fortunate that his work has progressed to the extent it has and that his plans were developed to the extent they have that not only the people of Nebraska but the people of the country may have the benefit of his vision of a magnificent yet practical and efficient public building which will stand in a class by itself for beauty and utility. His death is a personal loss to the commission and to the state."

Plans for section one of the capitol are completed and the construction work will be finished this year. Contracts for the second and third sections, the latter being the tower, have not been awarded. It is said plans for the second section are about complete.

The contract which Mr. Goodhue entered into with the capitol commission November 16, 1920, provides for a salary of $25,000 a year for the architect for five years, with the privilege on the part of the commission of changing the basis of salary to 6 per cent commission on the cost of the structure.

The meaning of the intricate provisions of the contract will be considered by the commission. One provision is that in case of the architect's death, the abandonment of the work or his discharge after preliminary studies have been made and presented, there shall be paid to his estate that part of $100,000 that the unpaid portion of his five year fee bears at that time to the all fee for the whole five years of service covered by the contract. This may mean that his estate is entitled to about four fifths of the entire salary or fee for five years.

Provisions in the contract recognize the proprietary rights in the design of the capitol

Drawings and specifications are the property of the architect whether the work for which they were made is completed or not but

WAGER ON RALSTON.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Money to be wagered that Senator Ralston of Indiana will be the democratic nominee for the presidency, has been received on Wall street.

J. S. Fried and company, brokers, have $2,500 to place against $8,750 Ralston will be named. That is at odds of 1 to 3 1-2. Another is $2,000 to $20,000, or 1 to 10, he will be the next president.

Governor Al Smith's odds are lower. The price on his nomination is now 1 to 2, and election 1 to 7.

DEATH CALL FOR GOODHUE

NEBRASKA CAPITOL DESIGNER VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE.

Leading Exponent of Gothic Architecture and of Skyscrapers—Was Fifty-five Years Old.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Bertram G. Goodhue, fifty-five, designer of the Nebraska state capitol, died suddenly at his home here last night of heart disease. He had just returned home from a theatre.

A few years ago Goodhue caused some consternation in church circles when fringing the stone of St. Thomas church here, it was said he hid the dollar sign as symbolical of Fifth avenue in one of his designs.

He was one of the exponents of Gothic architecture and also of skyscrapers. He proposed an eighty-story building on the site of the present Madison Square Garden.

Dr. H. B. Alexander, whose work as professor of philosophy in the University of Nebraska has made him familiar with many phases of the history of culture, was asked early in the conception of the capitol to suggest the sculptural decorative scheme and to select the inscriptions. He has for three years been closely associated with Mr. Goodhue in such matters. Professor Alexander was profoundly moved by the news of Mr. Goodhue's death, and expressed concern over its effect upon the future of the building. When he was asked concerning the matter he said:

"It is a great shock to every citizen of Nebraska who is at all concerned with public enterprises to hear of the death of Mr. Goodhue. It is a particular shock to those of us who have been brought in more or less personal contact with him as a result of his work upon our capitol. At this time it is difficult to divorce one's thoughts simply to the public loss because of the very great reality of the personal loss. Mr. Goodhue was a man whom any man might value as a friend. He was not only an artist to the tips of his fingers, full of enthusiasm for the work which he was doing, but he was also a man of clear and broad public vision and the quality of his personality was finding its way in every element of the building he was constructing. The man can hardly be separated from his work. It was near his heart, in no sense as a commercial venture for his firm, but primarily because he was an architect who saw, and an American with enthusiasm for the houses which reflect our public life.

The Future of the Capitol.

"What the consequences of Mr. Goodhue's death upon the building which is considered his greatest creation are to be we cannot now foresee. One thing is certain, and that is that if it is to be monumentally great in every particular the carrying forward of the plan must be in hands entirely sympathetic with Mr. Goodhue. It is an error to suppose that because the main lines of the capitol are laid down in blue prints that therefore the architect's further services are of minor significance. As a matter of fact, his care, his constant touch is needed at every moment, from the laying of the cornerstone to the emplacement of the last mural. Mr. Goodhue said repeatedly that in his conception a public building should have no decoration that was not signification and that the significations ought to reflect the meaning and purpose of the building. He meant by this that the decorative scheme of the whole building should have the same unity as its formal outline, that is its completion as a monument could only be full and satisfactory when all the sculpture, murals, inscriptions and other elements of its beautification were in harmony with the central plan. For such an achievment a single directing mind, capable of utilizing all its helpers, is absolutely essential. And it is the loss of this mind, in the death of Mr. Goodhue, that strikes a heavy blow upon Nebraska.

"For my own part I can only say that the citizens of this state should regard it as not merely a duty to the genius of the dead but an obligation to themselves and to all mankind—for Mr Goodhue's monument is not merely for Nebraska but for the world—that this capitol be completed as nearly as is now possible

GUESTS EAT GLASS

Ella Soduck —P. & A.

The condition of several of the guests who attended a dinner in the home of Dr. I. Val Freedman in connection with which the maid Ella Soduck was arrested, is reported to be somewhat improved. Powdered glass was found in the flour from which bread was made and eaten by the diners. The maid is being held at Chicago police station pending the outcome of the police investigation. She denied that she knew how the ground glass happened to be in the flour.

HEROISM OF ONE KILLER

PRISON LIFE TERMER GIVES UP GUN TO A GUARD.

William Henry Voluntarily Hands Over Weapon Picked Up When Watchman Falls Twenty Feet From Wall.

William Henry, gunman serving life for the murder of a real estate dealer in Dodge county, was the outstanding hero of a threatened tragedy in the prison yard late Wednesday afternoon. C. King, sixty, guard, fell from the east wall a distance of twenty feet and landed upon a jagged rock covering over a drain. His repeating shotgun fell with a clatter and the jar caused the shells to scatter.

Two hundred men were in the yard at 4 p. m. when the accident occurred. Excitement was at high pitch. Mutinies at other institutions have occurred with less to go on. While King lay unconscious, "Bill" Henry took the situation in hand. He hurried to the side of the stricken man, picked up the gun and walking a dozen steps or more, handed it to Inner Guard Carney. At the same time, he gave to Roland Land, fellow inmate, a look which seemed to say: Pick up the shells. Land who is a short termer, gathered up the shells and hurried with them to Guard Carney.

The situation was handled with a minimum of excitement because of the presence of mind of this life man who has little hope of obtaining freedom. Henry was received at the institution December 21, 1916, and is thirty-three years old.

Guard King sustained a broken ankle and injuries to his back. He was taken by Warden Fenton to the state orthopedic hospital for an x-ray. He was later removed to his home. One leg is in a cast. According to the warden, it is remarkable that the guard was not fatally injured.

While there may be little in store for "Bill" Henry, tears came into his eyes when he received the highest reward that he could hope for—commendation from Warden Fenton.

"Bill, it was a fine thing you did," said the warden. "It shall go down on the record not only the book records but in the files so that when I am no longer here, those in charge will know what you did on this day."

The warden also expressed personal commendation to Roland Land, the man who gathered in the shells and turned them over to the inner guard. Mr. King was sitting in his chair on the high east wall when in some manner one chair leg slipped over the edge. The guard could not recover his balance and fell with chair and gun.

METHODISTS TO MEET IN MAY.

CHICAGO, April 24.—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which will be held in May at Springfield, Mass., is expected to draw 850 delegates from all parts of the United States and forty-four nations and territories. The conference will legislate for 4,774,500 members of the church in the world. Half the delegates are ministers and half laymen.

The subject for discussion at the forthcoming conference will be the union of the Methodist Episcopal church with the Methodist Episcopal church south

TEN CENTS CASH FARE

TRACTION COMPANY IS PERMITTED TO MAKE CHARGES.

No Increase in Tokens, Which Will Continue to Be Sold at the Rate of Thirty Cents for Four of Them.

The state railway commission entered an order Thursday permitting the Lincoln Traction company to charge, after May 1, a cash rate of ten cents for each ride within the city zones. The present rate for okens, four of which are sold for thirty cents, will continue in force.

The commission finds that revenues from transportation have fallen from $771,829.43 in 1920 to $579,056.64 in 1923. Had it not been for increased consumption of electricity and steam by patrons of the other departments, the annual rate of return on th einvestment would be much less than found, which is 5.85 on the railway property.

The commission says that the refusal of the voters to release the company from the cost of new paving between rails, compels a turn to rate schedules for additional revenue, which might not have been necessary had the proposal been approved by the voters.

The commission says that only the occasional rider will be affected by the order, on the doctrine that when additional revenues are required the regular patron should be favored as compared with others. The percentage of cash fares to the total is 31.7 per cent. It is estimated that half of those now paying cash will buy tokens, and the result will be a net addition to revenue of $17,629.14, which will give the company a net return of 6.1 per cent a year. The commission finds a cash fare of ten cents is reasonably required under the circumstances.

The commission, discussing the objections of the various municipalities that this will further depress traffic volume and a stimulation of competing motor bus survice, says that these are problems of management, and that its duty rests with observing the constitutional right of the company to earn, if it is able, a fair return on its invested capital.

The commission denies the request of the company for a rehearing on the value of its street railway property, and fixes it as in the previous order.

The commission also reviews its previous action in fixing the prices the railway department shall be paid for steam and current furnished the other departmets. It discusses the evidence in detail and finds that the present rate of 50 cents per thousand pounds of steam sold is a fair charge for this service. It also finds that the cost per kilowatt hour of making current is 2.37 cents, and finds that 2.5 cents is a reasonable charge to the light and power department, which now uses 10,514,583 kilowatt hours a year as compared with 4,854,623 for the railway department.

The commission appends this table showing the decrease in the number of passengers carried:

Year	Number passengers
1916	12,442,820
1917	11,490,720
1918	11,169,591
1919	12,448,742
1920	11,386,145
1921	8,869,886
1922	7,903,316
1923	7,273,600

ASKS FOR OWN ARREST

Orpheus D. Paxton Voluntarily Appears in District Court to Admit Guilt of Arson.

ALMA, Neb., April 24.—Orpheus D. Paxton of Mascot, Nebraska, appeared in district court Wednesday morning and voluntarily asked to be arrested for the crime of arson, for the burning of his store and contents, on September 2, 1922, for the purpose of obtaining the insurance thereon from the Minneapolis Fire and Marine Insurance company. The complaint and information was filed. He pleaded guilty and owing to the fact that there was some question about his mentality and the condition of his family, sentence was deferred for the period of two years, on the condition that he care for his family and reimburse the insurance company for the loss they had sustained.

CHARLES M. BRACELIN

New York, who was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of law in 1902 and who taught history in the Lincoln high school for a year immediately after his graduation, was just recently made a vice prisedent of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, New York City. Mr. Bracelin was born and raised at Humboldt, Neb.

Mr. Bracelin was a member of the University of Nebraska debating team that defeated Kansas in 1902. He was also awarded Phi Beta Kappa hoonrs. From 1903 to 1907, he taught history and debate in the Omaha high school, and from 1908 to 1918, carried on a successful law practice at St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn. He enterede the services of the American Telephone and Telegraph company on January 1, 1918, as an assistant attorney, later becoming solicitor. He now holds one of the highest positions in the company.

ADDED SOME TO SURPLUS

TRACTION COMPANY REPORTS NET INCOME OF $120,339.

Paid 6 Per Cent Dividends Totalling $94,696 on Preferred Stock, Outstanding During Year Just Closed.

The annual report of the Lincoln Traction company, just filed with the state railway commission, shows that it had a net income from all its operation, including its railway, light, heat and power departments of $120,339.08. Of this sum it paid $94,696 as dividends, representing 6 per cent on the preferred stock outstanding, now between $1,500,000 and $1,600,000. This left a surplus for the year of $25,643.08 and the company now has a surplus of $95,104.97. It expended $30,345 for aditional property during the year.

The income from passenger service was $581,482.14, miscellaneous, $4,983.88, and from all other departments $322,459.82, a total for the year of $908,925.84. Operating expenses were $698,564.48. This left $210,361.86 as the income from operation, to which is added miscellaneous income of $55,105.62, a total of $265,466.88.

The company paid out $66,650.40 as interest on its $1,333,000 of bonded indebtedness and $15,768.01 interest on current indebtedness, taxes of $60,309.49 and amortization, $2,400, a total expenditure of $145,127.90. This left the net for dividends and surplus, $120,339.08.

The company claims a property value of $5,143,639, of which $1,566,121 is for franchise and goodwill. The railway proper cost $1,397,140, equipment $445,338, and lands and buildings of $714,606 and additional proper make a total for the railway alone of $2,668,845. The investment in the light department is given as $483,053 and power plant $33,909 62.

REDUCTION IN LEVY FOLLOWS BONUS BILL

Chairman Smoot Prepared To Call Up The Mellon Bill As Reported.

BONUS IS SAFELY ON WAY

Insurance Policy Feature Is Passed by Senate.

MAY PASS OVER A VETO

Battle Over Rates of Tax Cut Plan May Not Be Concluded for at Least Three Months.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Here is what the bonus bill as by the senate and house provides:

Compensation to veterans on the basis of $1 a day for home service, and $1.25 a day for overseas service, with maximum basic compensation of $500 and $625 respectively for the two classes of service. The first sixty days of service are not counted in computing basic compensation.

To veterans to whom $50 or less is due, payment in cash.

To veterans due $50 or more, the issuance of twenty-year paid up endowment insurance policies. The face value of the policies is figured by increasing the basic compensation due the veteran by 25 per cent plus compound interest on the figures so obtained at the rate of 4 1-2 per cent for twenty years.

The resulting figure is multiplied by an arbitrary number derived from accepted actuarial principles. For example, the multiplying figure for a veteran thirty-two years of age, the average veteran age is 2.317.

The maximum value of a policy obtainable for an overseas veteran of long service is between $1,600 and $1,800.

Policy holders may borrow up to 90 per cent of the value of their policies from banks after three years.

WASHINGTON, April 24. — The tax reduction proposal—with its varying rates that affect every earning person in the nation—was to come up in the senate today to face a long and uncertai nfight.

With the bonus bill safely upon its way to becoming a law Chairman Reed Smott prepared to call up the Mellon bill as reported by his finance committee.

Even the most optimistic leaders predicted that the fight over rates could not be concluded for three weeks.

The final outcome still is in doubt but impartial observers foresaw a victory for the democrat income and surtax proposals.

The bonus bill in its passage displayed potential strength enough to become a law even tho President Coolidge affixes his veto, as congressional leaders expect.

By amending the bill, they provided that no payments can be made to a soldier until after July 1, 1925. By that time, the administration and congress elected next November will have taken office and will have had plenty of time to put over a cash measure.

The bonus will go to conference before Friday, when slight differences between the senate and house bills will be ironed out. It will get to President Coolidge by the first of next week.

IMMIGRANTS AND CHURCHES

Little Done to Help Foreigner Become American, Rev. Ray Hunt Tells Club Members.

Some of the work undertaken in New York to help the foreign born citizen and his children become real Americans, was described to Knife and Fork club members Thursday noon at the chamber of commerce by Rev. Ray E. Hunt, new pastor of the First Christian church. All too few organizations are active in this work, Mr. Hunt said, and they are keeping the immigrant from making to American civilization the contribution he is often prepared to make.

Many East Side children are more familiar with the contents of New York art galleries and public libraries than are children of American families, the speaker said, and they will travel as far to go to church as they will for amusement if circumstances are right. He described the experiment of a fashionable church that moved up into the Central Park neighborhood and took its East Side membership along, providing for them jointly with its aristocratic members in the new institutional church. There they worked and play and grow up side by side and the experiment undertaken at the pastor's behest in the face of much opposition, has proved itself successful.

JOHNSON IN POOR HEALTH

Hiram May Not Be Able to Make Scheduled Speaking Tour in Indiana Next Week.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 24.—Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, is in poor health and there is some question as to whether he can make his scheduled speaking tour in Indiana next week Clarence Martin, his campaign manager, said today.

A message from Johnson's headquarters in Chicago indicated there was serious doubt as to whether Johnson will be able to keep all his dates, Martin said.

CHICAGO, April 24.—"I understand that Mr. Johnson's health is not of the best, but I can't discuss it." Harold Ickes, Illinois manager for Senator Hiram Johnson stated today.

"I can't make any statement," Ickes continued. "It will have to come from Mr. Johnson himself."

REPUBLICANS SELECT LIST

DELEGATES NAMED TO THE STATE CONVENTION.

Resolutions Passed and Oratory Listened to From Chairman Green and Candidate for Congress Thorpe.

The republicans held their county convention at the city auditorium Thursday noon. The convention was called to order by Richard P. Stout, chairman of the republican central committee at 12:15 p. m. All candidates for county and state offices, including district judges, were called to seats of honor on the platform. Rev. J. R. Gettys pronounced the invocation, immediately after the convention call was read by Mr. Stout.

J. Reid Green was unanimously chosen temporary chairman of the convention and Mrs. Mary Weekly was named secretary. A subsequent motion which carried unanimously invested them permanently in office.

After a short speech by Mr. Green, it was moved by Carl Sanden that the list of delegates prepared by the county clerk after the primaries, be approved and accepted as th eoffical list of delegates. This motion also carried.

Chairman Green appointed the committees on resolutions and nominations to the state convention and called them into meeting immediately.

While the two committees were deliberating in the far corners of the hall, R. H. Thorpe, the "tramp orator" and candidate for congress gave a short talk extrolling the virlues of the grand old party.

"The democratic party has not won a single victory since 1860," declaredthe speaker, "save when a lot of weak-kneed republicans voted the democratic ticket."

In pointing out the glaring weaknesses of the democratic party, Mr. Thorpe stated that in spite of all of the allenged economy that the democrats lay claim to in their administrations, they never yet have gone out of power without leaving the treasury completely exhausted.

"When Warren G. Harding came into power after the Wilson administration the government was costing six billion seven hundred millions of dollars each year. Last year the appropriation for governmental expenses was but three billion six hundred million, a cut of more than fifty per cent and the republicans did it

The speaker also stated that the present administration has already paid off more than three billions of the war debt and collected about four and a half billions from England that was taken out of the treasury by McAdoo without so much as an I O U to guarantee its payment

In summing up the presidential prospects for the coming election he stated that the republicans will make a great mistake if they fail in their unqualified support of Calvin Coolidge, a man with the spirit of a Lincoln, the patience of a Harding and the bravery of Theodore Roosevelt."

Without conclusion of the ex-congressman's address Chairman Green introduced to the convention the candidates on the platform and immediately thereafter heard the reports of the two committees. The

STOLE MILK WILL HANG

HUNGRY SAILOR KILLED OFFICER WHO ARRESTED HIM.

Isaac Wolfgang to Pay Penalty at San Quentin for Acts While He Was Out of Job and Broke.

SAN QUENTIN PENITENTIARY, Cal., April 24.—Isaac Wolfgang, sailor, who has no friends, is going to hang here tomorrow all because of two bottles of milk.

Wolfgang was in Los Angeles early one morning. He was out of a job, had no money in his pockets. In front of a grocery store, down on East Third street, he saw the milkman leave the day's supply of milk.

Wolfgang waited until the man was gone and then he drank two bottles.

"I was hungry," he explained, "and I needed the milk."

But the law didn't look at it that way and H. A. Rude, watchman having seen him, pursuit of a "desperate criminal" started.

Officer Walter Dinsmore finally found Wolfgang and went with him to his room "to get $35" he said he had there.

Inside the room there was a fight. Dinsmore hit Wolfgang over the head with his "billy" and Wolfgang in turn shot and killed Dinsmore.

He was tried and convicted and sentenced to hang.

Last night he was taken from the condemned row in the penitetiary here to the death cell—there to sit alone with his thoughts and await the coming of 10 a. m. Friday when he will hang.

WILD WEST COMES BACK

Peg-Legged Cowboy Leads Posse of 300 on a Two-Day Chase, Ending Up in Pasture.

LUBBOCK, Tex., April 24.—The wild west came back to the Texas panhandle with a bang when Bill Ward, peg-legged cowboy, let loose and led a posse of three hundred on a two day chase.

Bill was finally rounded up in a concrete dipping vat in the middle of an uge pasture with a dozen rifles and revolvers after exhausting his store of ammunition.

Ward was brought to jail here last night and admitted murdering Dr. S. H. Windham, rich rancher, for whom he worked, and wounding the foreman and a deputy sheriff. Ward said he believed the ranchman had planned to poison him and officers believed he was suffering from hallucinations.

Sir Richard Squiers, former Newfoundland premier, was arrested on larceny charges growing out of inquiry into alleged irregularities under his government.

LEADER IS AMONG DEAD

DR. HELLFERICH KILLED IN THE SWISS WRECK.

Chief of German Nationalist Party Among Score of Victims of Zurich and Milan Express Colliison.

BERLIN, April 24.—Dr. Hellferich, leader of the German nationalist party was amnog a score of persons killed when the Zurich and Milan expresses collided near Bellinzona Wednesday morning in the most disastrous train wreck in Swiss history, it was confirmed today.

The statesman's friends were without word from him for twenty-four hours following the crash, but had hoped against hope that he was not on either of the wrecked trains. Confirmation of Herr Hellferich's death was received here this afternoon.

One gas lighted, wooden coach is reported to have been consumed by flames following the collision, all its occupants burning to death.

Herr Schacht, director of the reichsbank, who had been in conference with the Dawes experts during the drawing up of their report, was reported to have been a passenger.

OBITUARY.

The funeral of George A. Towle, who died on April 18, was held at Wabash, Neb., Thursday. He was laid to rest in the cemetery that many years before he had helped to lay out. Mr. Towle was born in New Bedford, Connecticut, April 14, 1851 and was seventy-three years of age at the time of his death. On April 13, 1875 he was married to Miss Mary Cavey of Worcester, Mass. To this union was born twelve children Walter B., South Bend, Neb.; Edward A., Ashland Neb.; George E. Waverly, Neb.; Fred L. Wabash Neb; Henry V. Douglas, Neb., Mrs. J. J. Hill Denver Col., Mrs. J. E. McHugh, Murdock, Neb., and Rhena A., who lit at home. Benjamin R., Emery and J. Leroy have preceded their father.

Mr. Towle was a pioneer of Cass county, Neb., his father, Andrew Towle, having located near where the town of Wabash now stands sixty years ago. George A. Towle grew up in Cass county and was a large farmer and landowner, and also engaged in the grain, lumber and mercantile business. When the panic came the slump in land values, together with the death of an invalid son, caused him much worry and he became despondent and depressed. In recent months he was not his usual self and his friends noticed and frequently commented upon the fact that he was failing mentally. His death was undoubtedly due to worry.

Mr. Towle was one of the best known men in Cass county. He retired from the farm several years ago and moved to Lincoln, where he resided with his family at 338 North Twenty-ninth street. He was a man dependable in every relation, and it was frequently said of him that his word was as good as his bond. He was not affiliated with any church, but was always a liberal contributor to all denominations. In the early days he donated materials and gave generously of his time and labor with others to build the little Catholic church in Elmwood, Neb. In politics he was a lifelong democrat. He never sought or held public office, but in the days when it was customary to have colonels on the staff of the governor Mr. Towle was selected for that honor by former Governors Holcomb and Shallenberger.

FURTHER DAIRY PROGRAM

Half of $100,000 Needed for Development in Nebraska Is Subscribed in Omaha.

OMAHA, April 24.—Half of the $100,000 needed for the Nebraska dairy development program has already been subscribed by Omaha business men, Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific railroad, and head of the movement, said today.

"We are now preparing plans for raising the balance of the money needed thruout the state," Gray said. "As soon as the money drive is over we will launch our five-year program for the development of the dairy industry.

"Two experts will be placed in charge of the work and inside of five years we may expect to see Nebraska one of the greatest butter producing states in the country."

DIPHTHERIA DEATHS ARE 1 IN 10 CASES

Bulletin by Dr. Chapman Holds Forth Great Benefits of Antitoxin Since Discovery in 1893.

"Of all causes effecting the life of children under 12 years of age diptheria is, undoubtedly, the one greatest menace. Nineteen out of every twenty deaths from this disease occurs among children under twelve years, twice as many die before six as between six and twelve," says Dr. Chapman, superintendent of health for Lincoln.

"During the past 26 years the deaths from diptheria have numbered 206 among a total of 2102 cases, making a rate of about 10 per cent, showing nearly one out of every ten cases died. The following table shows the number of cases and deaths each year:

Year	Cases	Deaths
1897	11	1
1898	55	8
1899	31	7
1899	31	7
1900	132	21
1901	96	18
1902	57	4
1903	10	1
1904	20	3
1905	109	10
1906	177	16
1907	76	8
1908	56	12
1909	66	9
1910	33	0
1911	35	3
1912	45	6
1913	140	12
1914	124	7
1915	69	4
1916	97	6
1917	110	12
1918	102	8
1919	61	6
1920	82	5
1921	49	2
1922	71	4
1923	187	13

"These figures follow the discovery and use of antitoxin in 1893. Before that date diptheria was a most dreaded disease and the death rate was enormous. Antitoxin has reduced the rate from more than 100 per 100,000 per pear to less than 20. In 1922 the rate in Lincoln was less than 8 per 100,000 and 1923 this figure jumped to 22 in face of further discoveries which, if made use of, would obliterate the disease. Lincoln is not keeping abreast with some of the more progressive communities where the toxin-antitoxin is made use of by immunizing children under 10 years of age.

"The diptheria problem can be solved by the use of toxin-antitoxin, a simple preventive consisting of three injections one week apart. The immunization lasts, practically speaking, a life time. Toxin-antitoxin and antitoxin are as yet somewhat confusing in the minds of the laity, doctors should take extra pains to explain the difference and value of these two serums. Toxin-antitoxin given in three doses one week apart will produce immunization against diptheria, the process is gradual and requires about six months before the immunization is complete. Toxin-antitoxin should not be relied upon during an epidemic or when one has recently been exposed to the disease. Antitoxin acts as a specific in the early treatment of diptheria and the prevention of the disease for those recently exposed. A large dose is necessary to combat the disease and a small dose, 1000 units, confers immunity for about two weeks. The prices on these serums have been reduced more than one-half within the past two years which makes the price within the reach of the great majority. When anyone is unable to pay, the serum is furnished free by the city at this department.

"There remains no excuse for neglecting to take advantage of this life saving prevention, the most valuable scientific accomplishment of the age."

PAPAL ENVOY IN RUHR.

		Number	DOUBLE-FACED List Price
Dinorah—Sei vendicata assai (Thou Art Avenged) (Meyerbeer) In Italian / Benvenuto Cellini—De l'Art splendeur immortelle (Immortal Splendor of Art) (Diaz) In French	Giuseppe de Luca / Giuseppe de Luca	6443	$2.00

The finished art of de Luca is again exemplified in these two numbers of highly dramatic character.

Silver Threads Among the Gold (Rexford-Danks) / Love's Old Sweet Song (Bingham-Molloy)	Amelita Galli-Curci / Amelita Galli-Curci	998	1.50

Those who have never heard these old favorite melodies sung by a really great voice will be thrilled by the beauty of these interpretations. It is a record of unusual interest.

Melodious Instrumental

Orpheus in Hades—Overture—Part I (Offenbach) / Orpheus in Hades—Overture—Part II (Offenbach)	Victor Symphony Orchestra	35741	1.25

One of the most brilliant of Offenbach's many overtures. Played by a full symphony orchestra, with all its gorgeousness of color and richness and accuracy of detail. A selection you probably know; a record you will want to own.

Light Vocal Selections

Fallen Leaf (V. Logan-F. Logan) / At Eventime (Twohig-Grey)	Elsie Baker / Elsie Baker	45392	1.00

"Fallen Leaf" is an excellent example of the love-songs built musically on themes of the American Indian. "At Eventime" is a fine companion song. Both numbers are beautifully sung and recorded.

Lazy / Cover Me Up With the Sunshine of Virginia	The Brox Sisters / The Brox Sisters	19298	.75

First Victor Record by the Brox sisters, who have been singing in the Music Box Revue and elsewhere. The songs are big successes, and as usual the Victor presents them by the singers who "created" them for the public.

When Lights are Low / What's To-day Got to Do With To-Morrow	Marcia Freer / Peerless Quartet	19300	.75

The first a waltz song for a lovely contralto voice, the second a swinging fox-trot type with ringing vocal harmonies for four men's voices. Exceptionally fine popular numbers—and records.

(1) Who Knows (2) The Two Clocks (3) Cuckoo in the Clock (4) Fairies / (1) Playmates (2) Robin's Prophecy (3) Breezes of the Night (4) Dancing Song	Anna Howard-Laura Littlefield / Anna Howard-Laura Littlefield	19272	.75

Charming selections for two sopranos. Primarily made for educational purposes, but they are music more than pedagogy, and are delightful to listen to for their own sake.

Dance Records

What'll I Do—Waltz / Lazy—Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra	19299	.75

The first number will be especially welcomed, as Paul Whiteman has not recorded many waltzes. With "Lazy," a fox trot of the big-hit sort, it makes a record that will become one of your dance favorites.

After the Storm—Fox Trot / Hula Lou—Fox Trot	The Troubadours / The Troubadours	19296	.75

"After the Storm" introduces a real storm with a ninety-mile wind and a vocal refrain with Clifford Cairns as soloist. "Hula Lou" introduces Frank Ferera's Hawaiian guitar. Splendid numbers to dance to or just to hear.

The election will take place Saturday morning. The nominating committee has reported the following names:

President, Prof. Paul B. Sears, University of Nebraska.

Vice president, Prof. W. S. Huxford, Doane college, Crete.

Secretary, Prof. Virginia Zimmer, University college of agriculture.

Treasurer, Prof. P. K. Slaymaker, University of Nebraska.

Member of executive council, Prof. J. A. Moss, Cotner college, Bethany.

The program for the general session will be as follows:

Thursday evening—"Fossils in Nebraska," Professor Barbour.

Friday morning—"Ethics and Behaviorism in Psychology," Dr. Jenkins of Omaha university.

Friday morning—"Professionalism," T. R. Kimball, president international professional men's club.

Friday evening—"Egypt and the Tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen," Dr. McCaskill.

Friday and Saturday mornings will be given over to sectional meetings. Friday afternoon, trips about the city have been planned for those who wish to go to various places of interest to scientists, including the smelters and water works and a visit to "Childs Point" under the auspices of the Audubon society. Friday evening the annual dinner will be held at the Hotel Rome.

TO DESCRIBE DAWES PLAN

Lincoln Kiwanians are to hear explained in detail the latest exploit of their fellow citizen, General Charles "Buck" Dawes, at the weekly meeting Friday noon at the chamber of commerce. Guy C. Chambers will talk on the German reparations report recently submitted by the commission of which General Dawes was head. Special music is being arranged for the program.

GIRL COUNSEL RUNS AMUCK

KILLS MAN AND SHOOTS WIFE OF ANOTHER.

Mrs. Wanda Stopa of Chicago, Once Assistant District Attorney, Believed Motivated by Jealousy.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Mrs. Wanda Stopa, twenty-four, a lawyer and recently an assistant district attorney here, today shot and killed Howard Manning, fifty-nine, and fired two shots at Mrs. Y. K. Smith, wife of a wealthy advertising man

The shooting occurred at Palos Park, exclusive Chicago suburb.

Mrs. Stopa leaped into a taxicab with the words: "Now I'm going to the city to kill your husband."

Hunlreds of police officers have been detailed to hunt for the slayer

Smith, warned by his wife, immediately went to police headquarters and asked that a hunt bemade for the slayer. Smith also told police that the lawyer was infatuated with him and often had asked him to leave his wife for her.

Mrs. Smith telephoned that Mrs. Stopa rushed into the living room on the first floor of the house and screamed out:

"I'm going to kill you," and pulled a revolver.

Manning ran in and Mrs. Stopa turned and fired one shot at him. The bullet struck Manning in the stomach and he died a few moments later.

Then Mrs Stopa fired two shots at Mrs. Smith, both missing. Then she sprang on a window sill and screamed she was going down town to kill Smith and leaped into the cab and vanished

Reports to police were that a man known as Ted Glascow was with the slayer Glascow, according to police, was Mrs. Stopa's husband. The woman, however, always used her maiden name.

Mrs. Stopa is a graduate of the Kent college of law and is described as being unusually beautiful.

Smith is handsome and about forty years of age. He said he met the woman about two years ago at a friend's home.

Another report from the highway police stated that Glascow is in custody and is being brought to police headquarters. From this police gathered that the woman also is under arrest.

NEBRASKA NEWS.

Waverly—David Johnson, formerly of this place, left Sunday evening for Tennessee where he will enter a press school, taking up the special study of lithography. Mr. Johnson has been employed for several years on a Lincoln paper.

Franklin — The girls' community club of Franklin gave a movie, "The Bachelor Daddy," at a local theater Monday and Tuesday night. A large crowd was in attendance both nights. The proceeds will be used to pay for a piano recently purchased by the community club.

BOOTLEG THIEVES ACTIVE.

OMAHA, April 24.—Thieves, believed by police to have been bootleggers stole 1,800 sacks of sugar and dozens of bottles o fextracts and flavoring from the Ideal Bottling company here some time during last night.

GOVERNMENT WAGES FIGHT

Takes Charge of Battle Against Foot and Mouth Disease in California.

WASHINGTON, April 24 — The federal government today took over complete direction of the fight being waged against the foot and mouth disease in California.

Upon receipt of a telegram from Governor Richardson of California, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace ordered Dr. V. G. Houck of the bureau of animal industry, at Sacramento, to take charge of both federal and state epidemic in the battle against the plague.

THE LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL.

"Adam and Eve," one of this season's dramatic successes, will be presented May 9 and 10 in the Lincoln high school auditorium by the Doane players. The play is being given under the auspices of the Lincoln high school commercial department, and the receipts will be used to send Lincoln high school students to the state commercial contest held in Omaha May 23.

The Lincoln high school orchestra will present a vesper concert in the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon, April 27. The orchestra will also be entered in the state music contest held in Lincoln early in May.

A called meeting of the student council was held Thursday at 3:10 p. m. in Principal Shepherd's office. Plans were discussed for the establishment of a "merit system," by which the number of offices in school organizations that any one student may hold is limited. The chairman of the Red and Black directory committee reported that the compilation of the high school manual was almost completed, and that the book would go to press as soon as it was proof-read by the faculty sponsor.

Students desiring to enter the Nebraska bar association essay contest on the subject, "What Are the Distinguishing Features of Our National Government as Provided by Its Constitution?" are asked to submit their essays to Miss Margaret Davis, room 302, or H. P. Shepherd, principal, not later than April 28. The essay must not exceed 2,000 words.

A girls' interclass swimming meet will be held May 28, according to an announcement made by Elva B. Gates, girls' physical training instructor. The meet will consist of form swimming in sidestroke, backstroke, English over-arm trudgeon, breast-stroke and Australian crawl, swimming under water and plain and fancy diving.

SHORTAGE OF WORKMEN FELT.

LONDON, April 24 — There are not enough houses in England because there are not enough skilled workmen to build them. This is the conclusion the government has reached after vain attempts, since 1919, to cure the housing shortage by paying a bonus for each new dwelling constructed. Houses have been built right along under that scheme—all the houses have been built, authorities say, that it was humanly possible for all the bricklayers, plasterers, slaters, carpenters etc., in England to build. But there just were not and are not, enough craftsmen in England to build in a few years enough houses to offset the shortage resulting from the war years when there was no building at all.

PLAINVIEW TO BUILD LAKE

Sportsmen Plan to Use Windmills to Flood Lowland.

PLAINVIEW, Neb., April 24 - Plainview will be situated on a large lake where sportsmen may enjoy fine fishing and where other recreations may be found by pleasure seekers during the summer, if present plans are carried out.

A number of sportsmen here have started a movement to flood a twenty-acre piece of lowland eight miles south of town so that they may enjoy fishing without having to go many miles from home. The plan is to use windmills to flood the tract. The only problem that confronts the promoters is whether the sandy soil will absorb the water faster than it can be pumped in.

LABOR RULE IS DOOMED

MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT MAKES A FORECAST.

Declares Issue to Come Up in Few More Weeks to Necessitate Resignation of MacDonald and Staff.

LONDON, April 24.—The labor government has only a few more weeks in office before a vital division comes that will necessitate its resignation and a general election, Sir Kingsley Wood, M. P., writing in the "Wesleyan Methodist" declares.

His opinion is shared by many political observers who point out that Ramsay MacDonald now is in daily need of at least sixty liberal votes in the house to protect him from overthrow.

TWO HOMES BURGLARIZED

Sneakthieves Get About $14 in Cash, Three Watches and Fountain Pen.

Sneakthieves entered two homes last night thru windows and obtained about $4 in money and a watch from the home of C. A. Fisher, 1325 North Twenty-second and $10 in cash, two watches and a fountain pen from the home of W. R. Bancroft, 1137 North Thirty-third. Police weer notified early Thursday morning but an investigation failed to give any clue which might lead to the apprehension of the thief or theives.

The home of Mr. Fisher was entered by way of a rear window some time between 1 and 5 a. m. Thursday morning. About $2 and a twenty-one jewel Elgin watch with a silver case were taken from Dr. Fisher and about $2 in change from N. G. Vinson who stays at the same address. Exit was made thru the rear door. Lieutenant Rymer and Detective White made an investigation shortly after 5 a. m. Thursday.

From the Bancroft home, about $10 in change, a ladies' gold watch, gent's gold Hamilton watch and a fountain pen were pilfered. Entrance was made thru an east window. The family retired about 11 o'clock Wednesday evening and the theft was noticed about 7 a. m. Thursday. Officer Meyer made an investigation.

This is the first time a case of sneaktheivery has been reported to the police since the "epidemic" two weeks ago when nearly a dozen homes were entered. It was thought that the culprit was a negro youth.

ACCUSE M'CRAY AS FORGER

District Attorney Tries to Prove That Indiana Governor Signed Another's Name to Note.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 24.—A dual line of attack was being developed today by District Attorney Elliott in the trial of Gov. Warren T. McCray of charges of fraudulent use of mails.

While continuing to quiz witnesses as to the methods used by McCray in discounting "cattle notes" with Indiana banks, Elliott opened up a line of questioning seeking to prove the government's contention that McCray forged a number of the notes.

The defense suffered a setback yesterday afternoon when Judge Anderson held that repayment of any or all of the indebtedness had no bearing on the case.

McCray's attorneys had been building their case on the theory that the fact that McCray had repaid some of the banks was evidence he had no intent to defraud in his financial dealings.

The defense suffered another jolt when Elmer Stout, president of the Fletcher-American National bank of Indianapolis, testified that McCray admitted to him last fall he had signed the name of "J. L. Williams of the Lincoln Stock Farm" to a note the Fletcher-American bank accepted from the governor for discount.

COLUMBIA UNIVERITY EXTENSION LESSONS

By Clement S. Brainin, Ph. D.

ASTRONOMY—III. The Solar System.

ALL the planets move about the sun in orbits of elliptic shape with the sun at a point on the greatest diameter slightly to one side of the centre. This point is known as the focus and has special geometric properties. The orbits are all, however, very nearly circular and lie in planes very close to one another and to the earth's orbital plane or ecliptic plane. The planets, therefore, can never appear more than a few degrees from the ecliptic circle. The laws of planetary motion follow directly from Newton's law of universal gratitation: Two bodies attract one another with a force which depends upon the product of the numbers giving the amount of matter (so many pounds, say) in the two bodies and upon the distance. The larger the bodies the greater the force; but it lessens very rapidly (as the square) with the distance. The sun is so large compared to the planets that its gravitation controls their motions. They lie in the following order from the sun outward: Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Planetoids, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune. Mercury and Venus, whose orbits lie within that of the earth, are never far from the sun in the sky. Venus, now the beautiful evening star, is the brightest of all the planets. In the telescope it shows phases somewhat like those of the moon and appears to be surrounded by a dense, cloudy atmosphere. It is probably more suitable for the existence of human-like beings than any other planet, though Mars is most often spoken of in that connection. The Martian atmosphere is very thin, and clouds are rare, the presence of water is doubtful. The surface can be well studied and polar caps which wax and wane with Mars's seasons are observed. It has two moons, one of which revolves about it so rapidly that from Mars it would be seen to rise in the west and set in the east. Jupiter is the largest planet. Its surface is not yet congealed. Nine moons revolve about it; the four largest were discovered by Galileo in 1610, the first telescopic discovery made by man. The fifth was discovered by the American, Barnard. Saturn was the furthest known to the ancients and is the most remarkable of all, as it is surrounded by a system of three rings composed of separate masses of various sizes. Two are easily seen in a small telescope, the innermost, however, is very dim. Saturn has also ten satellites. Uranus was discovered in 1781 and Neptune in 1846 through computations based on the disagreement between the calculated and observed motions of Uranus. The latter has four satellites; Neptune but one. The ninth satellite of Jupiter, the ninth and tenth of Saturn and those of Uranus and Neptune have the peculiarity of moving in their orbits in an east to west direction. Every planet, planetoid and all other satellites revolves from west to east. Furthermore, every known axial rotation is also from west to east.

The Moon.

Among the first astronomic observations was that of the moon's phases, correctly explained by the Greek philosopher, Aristotle. The moon revolves about the earth once a month. Having no light of its own it shines by reflected sunlight only. When between us and the sun, the side turned away from us is illuminated; that toward us is dark and the phase is new. When on the other side of the earth the whole sunlit disk is turned to us, the phase is full. Half way between we have the quarters or half-moon phases, half of the illuminated part only being turned toward the earth. (Make a diagram illustrating this explanation.)

The moon has no atmosphere and no clouds on it can obstruct our view of the surface. No great changes, if any, have taken place on it since it was first studied with the telescope. There seems to be no water on it at all. The whole surface is mountainous and rugged. Many of the mountains are circular craters and it is probable that they are extinct volcanoes.

The plane in which the moon revolves about the earth is inclined somewhat to the earth's orbital plane, so that at full and new moon the sun, moon and earth are usually not exactly in line. Frequently, however, they are so nearly in line that a total or partial eclipse results. If it happens at full moon, the moon is in the shadow cast by the earth and is cut off from sunlight; this is an eclipse of the moon. At the new phase the moon hides from us the brilliant orb of the sun, giving us a solar eclipse.

THREE CHILDREN DROWNED

Girl of Five Drawn by Water Plunges in and Two Half Sisters Die Trying to Save Her.

CHICAGO, April 24.—An overpowering spell cast over Margie Ruf, five, by the shimmering waters of the Lincoln Park lagoon, last night drew the child to her death and cost the lives of her two heroic half sisters.

Helen Holscomm, ten, plunged into the water in an effort to save her half sister, but sank almost immediately. Honora Holscomm, thirteen, leaped in after them, and altho she managed to seize Margie and Helen, their weight proved too great, and all three sank in the thirteen feet of water.

Firemen recovered the bodies a half hour later and made vain use of artificial respiration.

Margie had been warned to keep away from the lagoon, which seemed to have a peculiar fascination for her. It was while the two half sisters were some distance away that Margie was seen to dance toward the lagoon, arms outstretched. For a moment she was poised on the edge, then she waded in and plunged from a shelving rock into the deep water.

Do You Suffer From Backache or Pain Over Kidneys?

Wonderful Relief is Here Told

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"I suffered a great deal with pains across my back until I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets, but now have very little to complain of in the way of pains and aches. What Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets did for me they will do for others if they will but give them a trial. This medicine is worthy of the highest recommendation I can give it for kidney ailments and backache."—Mrs Reuben Spickler, 625 5th Ave. East.

This anti-uric-acid remedy of Dr. Pierce's for backache and kidneys (called "An-uric") is new, but it can be had at your neighborhood drug store, or send 10c for trial pkg. to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free medical advice.

KEYNOTE TO PLEASE MOST

COOLIDGE FOREIGN POLICY OPPOSED BY TWO GROUPS.

Isolationists and Pro-League Group Not to Be Satisfied by Utterance of President at New York.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—President Coolidge has struck the keynote of an American foreign policy that will be generally acceptable to most of the country, even if it offends two large groups of opinion, his advisers believed today.

This policy, based on the long list of achievements by Secretary of State Hughes, will neither satisfy the isolationists nor the pro-league elements of the United States, it is admitted.

However, Mr. Coolidge can answer these main schools of opposition as follows:

To the irreconcilable element, which also is fearful of the American people being called on to foot the bill for Europe, the president can point to the unequivocal language in his New York speech declaring the league of nations dead so far as the United States is concerned and to his statement that he expects foreign nations to pay their debts to us.

To those calling for complete cooperation between the United States and the rest of the world, President Coolidge can turn to his speech where he is on record as approving participation of American finance in the international loan to Germany under the Dawes reparations settlement plan and where he favors the calling of another disarmament conference when the reparations settlement is established.

The Coolidge-Hughes foreign policy now is fairly formulated and it is expected to have a prominent place in the republican platform. Briefly, it is:

1—Cooperation with Europe when practicable, but avoidance of participation in European politics—economic and extra-official cooperation being favored to political alignments.

2—As a fundamental base of this policy, all possible efforts to further world disarmament. The president and Hughes are understood to feel that if another successful disarmament conference can be held the administration will have done everything possible in the interest of world peace.

The results of this policy are believed likely to serve as the fulfillment of the late President Harding's promise of an "association of nations."

MARRIED TWELVE YEARS BEFORE BABY CAME

Gladly Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Nebraska.—"I was married twelve years before my boy was born. I had a lot of female troubles and had been treated by a physician for them but they continued much the same. Then I read your advertisement in the newspapers and thought I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a good trial, for if it had helped others, why not me? I have taken 36 bottles of the medicine and am never without it in the house. My baby boy is three years old now and I sure am happy since I got relief from my troubles. When any one has troubles like mine, or any ways like mine, I am always glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound so that they will get the right kind of medicine."—Mrs. JOE NOVAK, Box 662, Louisville, Neb.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

TWIN CUPIDS

BY FAY STEVENSON.

Copyright, 1924 (New York Evening World), Press Publishing Company.

A New Love Serial

SYNOPSIS.

Rose-Mary, a dainty slip of a girl of twenty with soulful eyes and a wealth of golden hair, loves two men. When she is with handsome, idealistic Chester Shipman, a well-known violinist and poet, she is fascinated and charmed by his magnetic personality and ideals, but when Dick Rolston comes to call and talks stock and bonds she feels certain that he is the man she most admires. Rose-Mary is the daughter of Peter Preston, who lives for his daughter's happiness. He calls her suitors "Twin Cupids," not because they are alike but because they are courting her at the same time and her love seems to be equally divided. Which twin is going to win?

The Eternal Question.

Love for the beautiful girl and very often the popular girl does not come singly. These fortunate girls sometimes have to consider two or three men to whom they might answer "Yes." This does not mean they are fickle or do not know their own hearts; it simply means that because they have been unusually blessed with good looks or a winning disposition men of character and position have admired them. It is natural for this type of girl to wonder "Whom shall I choose?"

With Rose-Mary, an unusually beautiful and attractive girl just out of boarding school, the problem had dwindled down to two men. There were no objections to either man, no obstacles to meet—only her own heart. Rose-Mary was the daughter of Peter Preston, a retired banker. The men she loved were eligible and moved in her own set.

If Peter Preston sometimes wished his daughter would marry stalwart, matter-of-fact Dick Rolston, who talked stocks and bonds even to the girl he was courting, the indulgent father never hinted such a thing to his daughter. He met handsome young Chester Shipman, the well-known violinist and author of several books of poems, with the same cordial hand and extended his box of cigars with the same hospitality.

Because Chester Shipman gave a recital out of town every week end and because Dick Rolston was free from business dinners and engagements only upon Saturdays and Sundays, the two rivals seldom met in the home of Rose-Mary. It is true they were aware of each other's existence, and at times when Rolston was calling he would notice a bouquet of orchids or roses not his own.

"From the violinist?" he would always ask with a twist of his eyebrows which expressed contempt.

Occasionally too, he would pick up a volume of poems, "By Chester Shipman" in gilt letters. But the practical business man never even turned the leaves to see the dedication: "To My Inspiration."

On the other hand Chester Shipman thought Rose-Mary too feminine and devoted to poetic muses to consider seriously a man who dared to talk dollars and cents to his companions for a whole evening at the opera.

Sometimes Rose-Mary almost wished Chester Shipman or Dick Rolsonwould put her to the test with "Well, which man is it to be?" As it was, each seemed to be blind to the other's declarations.

It was not until an evening was claimed by the two men that Rose-Mary was aware of the fact that at last a spark of jealousy would be aroused and perhaps her own heart put to the test. Dick Rolson's mother was to be in New York one evening. She had promised to dine with them. On the same evening Chester Shipman was to give one of his formal violin recitals. Dick insisted that no engagement in the world should keep her from meeting his mother. Chester could not do his best with his violin unless Rose-Mary was there to inspire him.

Which man should she consider?

RADICALS ARE READ OUT

National Republican Says Time Has Come for Refusing to Compromise With Demagogs.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Radical republicans were read out of the party here today by the National Republican, a weekly published by authority of the republican national committee.

"The time has come when those who believe in the republicanism of Lincoln, Grant, Garfield, Harrison, McKinley and Roosevelt must refuse either surrender or compromise to demagogic radicals who are out of harmony with every real principle and ideal of republicanism whose only relationship to the republican party for furtherance of their own personal ambitions and when in office are disloyal to its principles, its policies and programs," the weekly stated.

The republican party has nothing in common with "the demagogic radicals" in its ranks, the weekly said, and summoned party adherents to "battle for the substance and not the mere shadow of republicanism."

Stops! within 8 feet—going 15 miles an hour!

THIS is what properly adjusted Rusco-lined two-wheel brakes will do. The police stop-test standard is 20 feet, going at 15 miles an hour. Rusco-lined brakes do it in 8 feet. This has again been recently proved by a leading car manufacturer who standardizes on Rusco Lining.

Why Rusco commands the car

THE brake lining insures the brake. The quality of Asbestos that makes the lining insures the lining's braking surface. Canadian Crysotile Asbestos only goes into Rusco. It is "all-wool" and no shoddy. Only the giant looms, patented, built and used exclusively by the Russell Co., are powerful enough to weave this mineral-metal fabric. This weave makes long wear doubly sure.

Standard for Packard

IS THERE a company more careful in its selection of equipment than the Packard Company? Rusco out-tests all the standards set for a super-quality lining. Yet Rusco Crysotile Asbestos lining costs no more than the shoddy kind. Careful buying helps to make sure your safety. Insist that the repair man or dealer give you Rusco.

Your repair man pays more for RUSCO than any other brake lining—but he doesn't charge you more!

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand.

If he recommended and sold you a cheaper grade it would cost you the same, but he would make three times as much profit.

You can depend upon such a man. It takes time and money to reline your brakes. It isn't a job you want done every day. When your brakes do need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job.

The "Royal Repentance" Dicky Rendered Over the Telephone

LILLIAN rose from her chair as she finished her crisp account of her dramatic boat journey through the waters of Flushing Bay and the successful escape of the Braithwaites and the Harrison children to the ship bound for South America.

There had been no word of her own activities during the day and evening, and yet I knew that the chartering of the boat and the direction of the flight all had emanated from her fertile and resourceful brain. But I also knew that I never would know more than she had chosen to tell me, unless when the way was cleared for the return of the Braithwaites to their native land, I should hear of it from their lips. I ventured but a casual question:

"What did you do with Alf?"

"Oh, he just had time to catch a late train home. He's playing the dutiful spouse just now, isn't he?"

"It's about time," I grumbled, and Lillian laughed lightly.

"Alf never did strike me as a lad upon whose shoulders the matrimonial yoke would fit any too snugly," she commented. "You don't mind if I go to bed, do you? I'm too tired to breathe."

"Of course not. Just leave room for me. I shall follow you very quickly."

"What time do you plan to go to the farm?"

"Tomorrow on the first train, or rather I shall go to Marvin and see Mrs. Durkee, and take a later train out home. I haven't seen Her Fluffiness since she came home from the hospital."

"Nor I," Lillian rejoined. "I must try to run out, myself, between trains soon. Be sure to awaken me in plenty of time in the morning. I want to make you out a list of the things I need packed and parcel-posted back to me here, and I'm too tired to do it tonight."

"You don't mean to be back to the farm before you settle down here?" I asked banally, too surprised to remember Lillian's dislike of being questioned.

An Expected Telephone Call.

"Not with all the dynamite and nitro, not to mention T. N. T., piled up back there," she answered dryly with an expressive jerk of her head toward the rear rooms. I realized that the incident of the concealed furs, while she had made light of it to me, yet held something especially significant to her, something which she meant to watch, not only on my account but for reasons of her own. "No, I'm going to stay right here, with no Thursdays or Sundays out until I've proved something to myself. And don't worry about me. I'm perfectly capable of hoisting Mrs. Marks and her little Petey up to the yardarm with one hand if they get humorous."

She disappeared into the other room, drawing the sliding doors together after her.

I was fatigued enough to follow her to bed without further delay, but I had a prescient little feeling that when Dicky realized that he had slammed down the receiver upon a tentative apology from me, he would ring me up again, and while I was in no particularly forgiving mood, yet I neither wished to leave the ring unanswered, nor to climb shivering out of a warm bed to answer it.

I put another small log on the fire, and wheeled the davenport couch over near it, arranging it so that the reading lamp stood at its head. Then, slipping off my shoes, I drew up a blanket over me and settled down among the couch pillows with a magazine, to wait until Dicky should telephone or I should decide that it was too late for him to ring the apartment.

"You're Not Very Fierce."

I did not have long to wait, barely fifteen minutes, until I heard the expected ring. I pattered to the telephone and spoke softly into it.

"Yes? Mrs. Graham speaking."

"Hello, Madge!" Dicky's voice held the boyishly embarrassed note which is always his when he is repentant. "I was an awful swine tonight—two or three of 'em. Awfully sorry and all that, old girl. You're not very fierce, are you?"

I answered the meaning not the words of his jargon.

"Not very," I returned with a light little laugh. "Are you coming back here tonight?"

"I can't very well, now," he returned doubtfully. "I've taken a room at a hotel, and I'm telephoning from it."

His tone told me that a little encouragement from me would bring him, but I was in no mood for a reconciliation scene.

"No, of course not," I acquiesced promptly. "When are you going to the farm?"

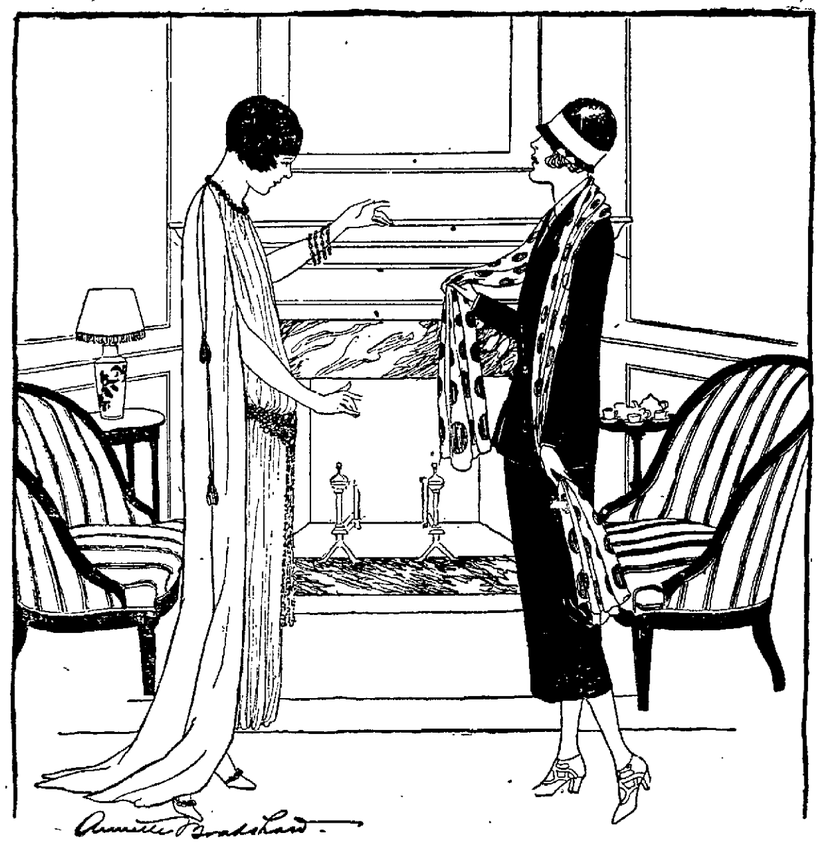

"When are you?" he countered.

"Tomorrow morning, with a stopover at the Durkees'. I'll be home on that last train."

"I'll go out on the first train and meet you at Bridgehampton station," he said. "Good night."

Did I fancy it, or had I heard the sound of a kiss in the telephone before he hung up the receiver?

YOUR HEALTH

Beware a Toothache and Dangers of Abscess

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

DO you ever count your blessings?

In thinking them over are you able to say, "I have never had a tootache"?

If you can truthfully do so, you are indeed a fortunate mortal.

There are few pains harder to bear than the cutting, throbbing ache of a decayed tooth. The worst thing about this form of suffering is that it is usually unnecessary. At the same time, it is terribly prevalent. It has been estimated that forty per cent of the absences of children from school on account of illness are due to aching teeth. In nearly all of the cases the trouble might be prevented by regular and timely care.

Nature built our teeth to do their work easily and well and to resist disease. She covered each tooth with a very hard and compact substance, the enamel. So long as the enamel is intact, the teeth are capable of masticating without discomfort or effort any substance included in the normal food of man. Likewise, they will withstand the extremes of heat or cold without damage.

Like every other material in nature, the enamel may be damaged. There are certain substances which have the power to injure or destroy this protecting enamel. Chief among these substances are the acids formed by the fermentation of food.

The mouth is constantly filled with germs that come to it from the fingers, from the air, from everything reaching it. Some of these germs have the power of converting certain foods into lactic acid.

This is particularly true of sugar and starches. When foods containing large amounts of these substances—such as fresh bread, pie crust, cake, chocolates and other sweets—are eaten and the teeth are not cleansed afterward, the acid-forming germs go immediately to work on the material which is left lodged on the teeth.

It is only a question of time before your neglect is paid for. Ulceration or abscess of the tooth results. This may be followed by any of the far-reaching ills which are due to pus-formation anywhere in the body.

There may be a swelling at the root of the tooth and in the face. As in the case of any other abscesses, when this condition is found at the root of a tooth, the pus must be drained. For this work, the dentist must be consulted.

For the immediate relief of the pain, until the dentist can be reached, hot water may be held in the mouth, or rolls of gauze dipped in hot water may be held against the mouth. Never apply hot formentations to the outside of the face for the toothache. This may soften the tissues and draw the pus to the skin surface, with the result of an ugly scar in the cheek.

"Counter irritation" may be used. That is, a mildly irritating drug may be applied to draw the blood to the surface.

Do not be content with the relief of the pain. So long as you have a diseased tooth you are in danger of pus absorption with all the evils that follow such self-poisoning.

Answers to Health Questions

H. L. K. Q.—I have been advised to take sulphur as a blood purifier. Do you believe that this is harmful in any way?

2.—What would cause a girl to groan in her sleep when she feels perfectly all right?

2.—This may be due to constipation, nervousness or intestinal disorder. Have an examination by your physician to determine the cause.

* * *

W. C. T. Q.—I had an operation for appendicitis about a year ago and five months later had another operation for adhesions. What causes this condition?

A.—Adhesions are bands of tissue, the result of inflammation, sometimes caused by an operation. When two inflamed or raw surfaces are left in contact there is likely to be union and the formation of adhesions.

* * *

J. K. Q.—I am very nearsighted and would like to know how to correct this trouble.

2.—I am seventeen years of age and am five feet five inches tall. What should I weigh?

A.—You should have your eyes tested and get the proper glasses for your condition.

2.—You should weigh about 125 pounds for your age and height.

* * *

MRS. H. W. S. Q.—Last Winter my husband had blood poisoning in his right limb and now it aches all the time. What would you advise?

A.—I would advise you to consult a physician who will find the cause of the pain. It may be due to a foci of infection somewhere. Bad teeth, tonsils and intestinal trouble frequently cause symptoms such as you describe.

* * *

MISS C. M. Q.—How can I increase the growth of my eyelashes?

A.—Apply one per cent yellow oxide of mercury ointment to the eyelashes every night. This will help to increase their growth.

DORIS MEETS MRS. PAINTED BEAUTY.

"WILL you look here!" exclaimed Doris to Happy Giggles, the wee elfin from Make-believe Land, one day while they were rambling through the woods. "Who could have put this funny-looking little thing among the hairs on this plant?"

Doris pulled out a queer little thing, barrel-shaped, yellowish-green in color, with vertical ribs on its surface. "Who in the world poked that funny-looking thing in here, anyway?" she asked.

"I did, of course," replied a silvery voice, and the most beautiful butterfly Doris had ever seen lighted on the straw-like flower.

"Why, if it isn't Mrs. Painted Beauty, herself," laughed Happy Giggles, and he at once introduced Doris, who couldn't take her eyes from the lovely creature.

She was certainly beautiful and she turned around and around so that Doris could see her in every light.

The general tone of the upper surface of her wings was a bluish-black with some distinct white markings on the front pair. Along the edge of her back wings ran a row of four dots. The under surface of her wings—she closed her wings so Doris could see them—was even more beautiful. They were spotted and striped with blotches and circles of gray and brown. On each front wing, near the outer edge, were three eye-spots in a row and on the hind wing were two bull's-eye circles.

"What is this queer little barrel?" Doris asked, touching the thing with a blade of grass "Surely not one of your eggs?"

"You guessed right that time," laughed Mrs. Painted Beauty. "I find it's the safest place on earth for my eggs, right here in among the hairs of the everlasting plant. It should be time for this egg to batch as it only needs a few days."

"If It Isn't Mrs. Painted Beauty!"

Just at that instant the queer little greenish-yellow barrel-shaped egg opened and out crawled the tiniest caterpillar Doris had ever seen. He was terribly hungry and began at once to devour the hairs along the stem of the plant.

When it reached a leaf it ate all the hairs from underneath, then, with silken threads, made a wee little matted nest.

"A clever child," laughed Mrs. Painted Beauty, proudly. "Now he'll stay there until he's stronger, then he will bend those two leaves together and weave silken threads around them to form a sheltered house. In the meantime he'll moult.

"He stays in the leaf until he is full-grown. There he hangs himself by the hind legs, head down. After a few hours the skin along his body will crack, and instead of a caterpillar hanging there you will see just a wee little hard cradle, called a 'chrysalis.' Then in about a fortnight, a butterfly will crawl out."

"Isn't that wonderful!" Doris exclaimed, eagerly, watching the wee little fellow snuggle down under the hairs of the plant, eating his dinner. "One seeing butterflies never stops to think how they come into the world."

"I'm quite sure if they knew the work it requires to grow into a big butterfly they wouldn't be so ready to destroy us," laughed Mrs. Painted Beauty. "And I guess the bad the caterpillars do when young is offset by the beauty they add to the world when they have changed into butterflies."

Without another word Mrs. Painted Beauty spread her wings and sailed away.

"Well, we'll not harm him," laughed Doris, and she and Happy Giggles went on through the woods in search of new adventure.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

1.—I am a girl in my teens. I am in love with a young man two years my senior. I love him very dearly. On Saturday night he asked if he might take me to the movies and I consented, but my parents objected to my keeping company with any one. I feel that I could not love any one else. My parents did not find out about my going with him. He has a fine character and people say he is a nice young man. He asked if I would not have a talk with my parents. How can I get my parents to allow him to call on me at the house? I would rather bring him to the house than stand on the street corner because I think it more ladylike, but my parents disapprove.

2.—Do you think it is wrong for a young man to kiss you?

3.—Do you thing it is right for a young man to take a girl to the movies without her parents' knowing it?

ANXIOUSLY WAITING.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING:

1.—Evidently your parents disapprove of your having company because you are too young However, why not talk to them and tell them of the young man and then be guided by their wishes? You may rest assured that whatever they say is for your good and you should be guided by their advice.

2.—It is improper to allow a young man to kiss you unless you are engaged to him.

3.—Most decidedly it is not right for you to go anywhere without your parents' knowledge and consent.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

What are you going to do when you love a young man and he says he loves you, but whenever you see him on the porch or anywhere he goes into the house. Is this bashfulness or just love?

PUZZLED KID.

PUZZLED KID: Possibly it is simply bashfulness on the part of the young man.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

Brief Stories of the Men and Women Who Led the Way

By MARK STUYVESANT

How the Pacific Ocean Was Discovered.

ONE of the big dramatic moments in the history of the world occurred on the 25th of September, 1513. On this day Vasco Nunez de Balboa and his band of daring Spaniards, after toiling for a month up the steep slopes of the Isthmian range, reached the summit of that peak in Darien. From there they first saw, spreading out endlessly, the mighty Pacific Ocean, the open road to China and India for which explorers had been vainly searching long before Columbus set out from Spain in 1492.

It was the great moment of Balboa's life, a life soon to be ignominiously extinguished.

Balboa seems to have been one of the kindliest, most courteous and bravest of the Spanish explorers. He was born in Spain about 1475, and made the voyage to the New World in 1501.

There were good-sized towns in a dozen places on the Caribbean by 1500, eight years after the discovery of America. Balboa settled in Hispaniola, which was Columbus's name for Haiti. He tried to be a planter, but he had no success with crops and soon got heavily in debt.

Balboa Took Possession in the Name of the King of Spain.

In order to escape his creditors, Balboa concealed himself in one of the big casks of victuals being sent aboard the ships of an expedition under Enciso which sailed from Hispaniola in 1510 for San Sebastian.

The stowaway revealed himself when the ships were at sea and being known for a good fighting man Enciso accepted him as a comrade-in-arms. They found the settlement at San Sebastian in ruins and no trace of the inhabitants.

Balboa then suggested that they go to Darien, where he had touched on his original voyage from Spain, and make a settlement there. His proposal was accepted and a town called Saint Mary's of Darien was founded. In a year or so Balboa rose to supreme power in this little colony. He was just and fair and the Indians liked him.

One of the Indians told Balboa of the great ocean beyond the mountains, and of the country of gold beyond. Balboa, of course, supposed the Indies were meant, but Peru was actually the land in the mind of the Indian.

Hearing that a ship from Spain was coming with an order for his arrest, Balboa decided to do something sensational and thus secure favor with the King of Spain. Accordingly he organized an expedition to go in search of the new ocean and the land of gold.

Balboa marched with quite an army, for he had 190 Spaniards and nearly one thousand Indians in his train. Among his own countrymen was Francisco Pizarro.

They marched through jungles and over steep hills for nearly a month before coming in sight of the great sheet of water. The ocean was utterly calm and peaceful when Balboa first saw it and he named it "Pacific" for that reason.

When they had descended to the seashore, Balboa waded out into the water and took possession of it in the name of the King of Spain.

Balboa remained nearly a month on the coast, collected booty of all sorts from the native settlements, and finally returned to Darien. He sent messengers to the King with gifts and was rewarded by the monarch with the title "Admiral of the Pacific."

Nevertheless, an expedition was sent from Spain under Pedrarias to take over the governorship of Darien. Pedrarias got possession of Balboa by treachery and had him executed on a charge of treason in the public square at Acia in Darien, in 1517. This was Balboa's reward for discovering the Pacific Ocean.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Various Ways of Amusing Little Invalids.

EXPERT care of little invalids requires careful thought. It is of vital importance to keep them happy for this aids them in making a quick recovery. Cleanly, quiet, bright and cheery surroundings should be insured. No loud talking, arguments or irritating conversations should be permitted in or near the sick-room. No annoying clock-ticking, door or telephone bells, piano playing, or noisy, machines should be tolerated unless by special request.

Squeaking doors and windows may be silenced by oiling hinges and soaping sills and noisy sashes. Plenty of linen to keep the bed immaculate and all ordinary conveniences should be at hand. Foot warmers, little cotton flannel bunny bags for hot water bottles and attractive little covers for the medicine glasses are all desirable.

The little trays with folding legs are most convenient, not only for serving food, but for the child to play on after being propped up comfortably in a cozy bed-gown. The child should be permitted to sit up and play, but not long enough to get tired.

Now as to amusements. There are all manner of so-called "soft toys" to be had, such as rag dolls, cotton-flannel animals, cotton-stuffed ten-pins, small bean bags with few beans in them, and a number of card games. If the child is able she may cut out pictures from card sheets and mount them, or paper dolls that may be dressed and set up against the rail of the tray. Then there are jigsaw puzzles, which are an endless joy to spread on the tray and fit together.

If the child likes to crochet, get cotton and let her make wash-cloths. That is light, easy work and work that may be sterilized when done. And cotton is easier to work with in bed than worsted. A small set of pin blocks are good for a boy, who may build many different things out of them. Visitors from outside should not be allowed until the child is well on the way to recovery, as excitement often undoes the good resulting from days of careful nursing.

Almost all children adore hearing stories read or told, and this is expected of those who do the nursing. Many children like being sung to in a pleasing, harmonious manner. In choosing books to read select stories that deal with peaceful life, not those that are exciting and tiring to listen to.

Some little girls like old-fashioned spool work, which is easy to do and does not require much effort. They also like to see the cord-like strip grow. Though this stuff used to be made into lamp mats, for which there is not much call to-day, it makes very attractive reins for wee ones, and small bells may be sewed onto the cross pieces.

Modelling clay is fun for children who like to work in it, and whiles away many a dragging hour. Transparent slates for children who like to draw are a good idea, especially the small sizes, which are not hard to hold.

Guessing games are fun if the child gets tired sitting up and must lie down and rest for awhile. Food stories are always of interest to children. They may be told about the things on the feeding tray and sometimes they stir the laggard appetite. The less talk there is about symptoms and the various points of the case, the better. Great care should be taken not to frighten a child in any way. Avoid long shadows from night-lights and be patient with night fears which are apt to pursue the sick child. Many things can be amused away. And habits formed during illness fade away as soon as the child is well.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

She Discusses a Youthful Dance Frock.

"I'VE come to you for expert advice on the question of dressing my young daughter," a fond mother said to Madame when she entered the shop today.

"Delighted," Madame answered in a pleased tone.

"You see, she's at the difficult age," the mother explained.

"Your daughter couldn't be difficult if she's half as nice to plan clothes with as you are," Madame said in a flattering tone.

"Well, she isn't grown up enough to require clothes of the debutante type, still she isn't a little girl any more," the mother explained.

"How old is she?" Madame asked.

"Just sixteen," answered the client.

"Oh, I'm full of ideas for adorable clothes for the very young girl," Madame told her.

"What I want for Mabel just now is a dance frock," the mother explained. "She's going to her first formal evening dance next week."

"I should be delighted to let you see several very youthful models we have," Madame told her.

"What type is your daughter?" she asked.

"She's a brunette with creamy skin," the fond mother answered. "She's slim and fairly tall."

"Then I should like to show you an orange tulle that just came down from the workroom," Madame said.

"The color should be lovely on a creamy-skinned brunette and the ruffled treatment is just the thing for a tall, slim girl," she added.

I was sent to don the frock.

The dress itself was simply a long, slim slip of tulle, and from the waistline there was a smart ruffled treatment that extended to the hem of the frock. Two big flowers of brilliant orange velvet added their color touches.

"I want to bring Mabel in this afternoon to try this one on," her mother said immediately.

"I think she'll love it," Madame assured her. "You see the slip beneath is very supple silver tissue with threads of orange woven into it. The shimmering surface adds a note of youthfulness that I like for the young girl."

Orange Tulle Veils a Slip of Silver Cloth to Make This Frock.

"She will undoubtedly like it," Mabel's mother said in a pleased tone.

"I should have come here sooner," she added. "I've looked several places and I could find nothing half so lovely."

"Choosing clothes for the girl who is not yet a debutante requires time and taste," Madame said.

"I like to cooperate with mothers who have such problems on their hands," she continued. "Often the young girl has very decided ideas of her own, and if they aren't just the best thing for her I can usually show her something so pretty that she's glad to take my advice on the subject."

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, APRIL 25.

Although an active day may be read from the governing planetary rule, yet it must be considered a time of unfavorable augury, with Saturn, Mars and Uranus holding adverse places. It may be difficult to make much progress, and the health may give concern under the Saturn vibration. The Uranian ray may dispose to restless, nervous and erratic conditions. The tendency to quarrel and fly into litigation to settle misunderstandings and disputes should be avoided. Be very circumspect in conduct.

Those whose birthday it is may have a restless and unsettled year, in which troubles of many natures may have to be adjusted. The health should be properly cared for and the tendency to quarrels and litigation should be suppressed. A child born on this day will be quick and clever, but may have a restless nature unless it is given strict training and discipline.

Your Problems
BY MARY GORDON

Dear Mary: I wonder if you could give me the golden key to happiness and contentment.

Physically, one would judge me as perfectly sane and well, but mentally, there is something wrong. There is something wrong in my whole make up and attitude toward life and things in general. I have thought this thing over considerably from every possible standpoint and have come to the conclusion that the trouble is an unknown fear of life and my outlook on life. I am afraid to face things. It seems that something some of these days will snap out my life. This same fear is always and ever before me until it seems that I shall go crazy.

Perhaps I give too little towards life and expect or demand too much in return. I have lots of friends, yet they mean so little to me. I can cry on the spur of the moment and am mentally miserable all of the time.

Last fall I thought this thing out pretty well and decided that I would go all the time and put that fear out of my life, but that has only made things worse. The more rapid the pace I go, the more the fear is with me. And now, that spring is here there is such a big lonesomeness in my life and heart. Am even afraid to try to live. There is some thing so wonderful in life that makes things really worth while, and I am missing that thing so much.

I have good looking clothes, am very attractive, am a good dancer and have plenty of places to go. Mary, I know this trouble lies within my own self, yet I can not name the remedy.

Mary, I am afraid I am shallow. It seems that I make friends easy enough, but do not have the power or personality to hold them. I find myself changed from a happy carefree girl to a pessimistic girl at twenty-one, just at the time when I should be enjoying things so much. But, Mary, all of my days are not miserable. Some times I get up and feel that life is so wonderful after all, but perhaps the next day or before the day is gone, I am in tears.

Mary, I was such a carefree, happy go lucky girl, and the change started about two years ago, and I find everything so changed in every way. I could feel this change coming in my life, and the family did too, and now it is beyond any of us. I find myself with no spunk, stickability, and nerve. Most of it can be summed up in "What's the use?" This may sound foolish, yet quite true. If I were only the smooth, easy going kind of girl I used to be. I am not so serious minded yet back of it all there is such a big seriousness and lonesomeness. All my girl friends say I am the life of the party, and I am while on the "go", but the minute I come home, I am so miserable.

The more I think and try to solve this fear, the weaker and more discouraged I become. Life seems to drag with me and it means so little to me after all. Happiness is something that money can not buy, or I would have it.

A friend of mine says that I am too ambitious and too emotional and nervous for the strain of every day life. Life is not a strain to others, so why to me? I just have to make myself want to keep going. I lay awake at night dreading what the coming day may bring forth. I am not ashamed of any thing I do, where I go, what I say or any thing like that, but yet a dread is with me all the time.

Mary, I fell in love last summer and he and I were so happy for a few months and then we just drifted apart. He lives here and we go together lots of times, yet we are millions of miles apart. He has been very wonderful to me and is doing all he can to help me in this struggle. But really, I think that he has made it only harder and has made me lose faith in everyone and every body. We may marry some of these days, but we both realize that we want so much before undertaking this marriage proposition. I never knew what it meant to love a man until this one came in my life, and it is not the silly kind of love that you read about. It is deep and understanding and he has been so good to me. I do not know just what happened nor can I put it into words but we have just drifted so far apart. He realizes this and yet we can not explain that something, yet we love each other so much.

This may have some connection with the first part of this letter, yet that dread was with me before I knew him. I hope that you can understand this part. I know it is not clear to me and feel sure that you won't quite get it. I think we are both afraid of life and things in general. I work and make good money and he does too, and it seems that we ought to be able to find happiness. As things stand now, Mary, there are two miserable people in the world and yet we could never explain what is wrong between us.

He has been so good to me, and we have had wonderful talks together and he says that there is nothing to be afraid of in life. I think he understands me perfectly, yet his advice is so inadequate to my troubles.

What's wrong with me any way? What is it that I am missing? Why can't I make friends and hold them? Why am I happy one minute and miserable the next.

Is life the same to others as it is to me only I am not strong enough to make the struggle a winning one? Why is it that I just don't care to live any more? Do you think it would help things if this man and I were to marry? We expect to some of these days when we are more financially able to have a home. We could, now, but there are other things to be considered and I do not think that I am the kind of woman to make him happy and he deserves the best I can give. Do I give too little and expect too much?

Please, Mary, won't you give me your best advice. I can surely understand Helen's letter because I have been there and have felt just like that but not on the account of a man. Most of them are not worth the worry, yet they are not alike. The world still has some very wonderful men and I happen to be fortunate enough to be the pal of a few of them and I do wish she could know them. When a girl fails, it is usually her own fault, because I have had temptations and I could fall so low were it not for the will power and the sense of right and wrong that has always been mine. Mary, no man will do a girl wrong, unless the girl is willing and most of them are. Of course, they will do all they can if the girl does not care and thinks she has to pay the price for a good time. Not all men are alike, I am glad to say.—Ann.

A. Did you read the letter "Homesick Antonia" which appeared in the Sunday Journal two or three weeks ago? Your case is similar to hers.

As you say, perhaps you demand too much from life and from your friends. When you realize that no one is free from faults, that one must give and take, that the more one offers in the way of kindness and consideration for others, the happier one is, then, perhaps, you will have started on the road to peace.

Religious faith is a potent antidote for such a feeling. Why not investigate some faith which appeals to you?

Every young person, I believe, on first coming to realize what life means, how much pain and mental struggle are involved, what possibilities there are for sorrow and mistakes, fears life. But as he lives on, he comes to see that it is not so much what happens to the individual, as to how he takes it, that counts.

Your fiance is right, there is nothing to fear in life. I can understand how you two might fear to undertake the responsibility of marriage. You are afraid that you might have to make sacrifices, might not be as carefree and free in every sense as you now are. It is a feeling common to the much indulged youth of today.

Do you think marriage would remove the "wall" which you say now exists between you two? If you think so, I would not delay marriage. But I am somewhat doubtful.

Yes, I would see a doctor. No one in perfect physical health could feel as you say you do.

Then try not to give way to your moods. I have known girls and women who prided themselves on the fact that some days were always their "blue" days. Nothing looked normal to them at such times. The average, well-balanced person looks with a bit of contempt on such natures. They do not control themselves because they do not wish to.

I'm afraid I haven't helped you very much. If I were you, I'd look up the replies given "Homesick Antonia." They would apply to you.

Dear Mary Gordon: If M. R. will take an ordinary aluminum kettle and fill with water, then put in a tablespoon full of salt and the same of soda, she will find, on heating to the boiling point and immersing her silverware that it will be cleaned better than in other manner. The plate she speaks of is nothing but a piece of aluminum. I am in the business and know.—D. H.

A. Thank you.

SHERIFF RAIDS BOOZE MAKERS

Finds Two at Work in House Supposed to Be Empty.

FRANKLIN, Neb., April 24.—Sheriff C. G. Garrett made a raid on what was generally supposed to be an empty house a few miles north of Bloomington and captured Clarence Spargo and Clyde Harwick, busy in the manufacture of liquor. A copper boiler and still and coil, a barrel of mash together with a quantity of the finished product were secured. The catch was made single-handed by Garrett. The pair were charged with manufacture of liquor, possession of a still, possession of mash, and possession of liquor.

Her Friend Says:

"She Is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good, healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face and run-down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamines that make flesh, creates appetite, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which Parks Drug Co., Piller's Pharmacy, Terminal Drug Co., and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It's a wonderful upbuilding medicine for children, especially after sickness, and sixty tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

WITNESSES FOR WHEELER REFUSE THE ALLEGATIONS.

Washington Attorney Who Was Retained by Campbell Declares Senator Never Consulted in Case.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The "defense" continued to pile up points today in the senate investigation of the indictment of Senator Wheeler of Montana.

William G. Feely, a Washington attorney, gave Wheeler "clean bill of health" so far as his alleged appearance before the interior department in land permit cases for Gordon Campbell of Montana was concerned.

Feely said he had been retained by Campbell to look after his permit cases with the department here, that he had never consulted Wheeler in any way about them, an dthat he had never seen Wheeler at the interior department.

THE LOVE THAT LASTS

BY FAY STEVENSON

Copyright, 1924, New York World. (Press Publishing Co.)

Husband and Wife

They met half an hour earlier than usual that evening at their apartment. Husband and wife had much to tell, and it seemed as if they had sent out a telepathic message to each other.

"I've landed a job, Elaine!" exclaimed Billy as she entered the aparment. He caught her in his arms and kissed her so impulsively that she forgot the bitter pangs of jealously of the morning with its lavender not from Betty. Her heart raced with the knowledge that the only man in the world she loved returned that love and the future looked secure and happy for them.

"Oh, Billy, I'm so glad!" she chied "Is it the sort of work you want to do?"

"Well, rather," chuckled Billy. "It's my old place back again, with an increase of 10 per cent. salary."

"Billy!"

"They simply couldn't do without me," boasted her husband. "Shortly after you had gone this morning I received a call from the firm, and they fairly begged me to return."

"After I had gone," questioned Elaine; "why, Billy dear, you left before I did this morning."

"Yes, with Betty Dana's lavender note in my pocket," smiled iBlly. "I was afraid that had worried you all day. When I read it—(an absolute declaration of her love of bygone days combined with the ridiculous supposition that I still cared for her)—I hurried back to ask you how I should answer it. Then it was that I answered it, myself and received the call from the firm!"

"And you told her?"

"To literally drown her sorrow in a tin cup," laughed Billy. Then becoming serious, he said, "I told her that our first love was puppy love, a mere flicker of the real flame of a second love. I told her I was married to a woman who understood me and that our lives were linked together until time eternal!"

"That is what I told Ben Tarbel today," replied Elaine. "It seems strange that the people we thought we adored should come back to us free to marry. There was a time when we thought they had broken our hearts, when you and I married from sheer sympathy with a great empty question in our hearts, wondering whether we could ever forget that first love."

The telephone summoned Elaine.

"Betty wants to see us both," said Elaine. "I told her we would go right over to her apartment."

"I hope she hasn't taken poison," volunteered Billy half seriously.

"She seemed to need us very much," replied Elaine, "but her voice didn't sound particularly distressed."

Note Exposes Burglary.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., April 24.—A note written to a man named "Harry," and delivered today to Turley Cook, chief of police, throws some light on the recent burglary of a meat market in this city. The man who wrote the note is now in the county jail serving time on a charge of operating a still. The message explained to "Harry" that "if he would look in a certain brick building, he would find something that would surprise him and that he should divide his loot with the writer's wife and children, who are in need of assistance."

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Twenty-One Cornhuskers to Compete at Drake

DRAKE MEET PULLS CREAM OF MID-WEST

Coach Schulte Satisfied That Nebraska Will Be Heard From Before Final Events Are Run Off Saturday.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 24.—The pick of mid-west and western university and college athletes trooped into Des Moines today by the hundreds and started limbering up for the fifteenth annual Drake relay classic to be held here Friday and Saturday.

Among the early arrivals were Coach Harry Gill's University of Illinois athletes, the Oregon Aggies, Notre Dame, Wabash college and other crack teams.

Over two thousand athletes are expected to be here before night. These will represent twenty-five universities, forty-five colleges and 121 high schools.

The track and field events will start at 2 p. m. Friday.

Twenty-one—and possibly twenty-two— Cornhusker athletes will compete in the Drake relays Friday and Saturday at Des Moines. "Red" Layton is the question mark. The Husker quarter miler failed last week to have his work in shape so that he could compete in the Kansas relays and he is up against it again this week. Sherrick, another quarter miler, is also scholastically "down."

However, Coach Schulte is not carrying the furrowed brow that he did prior to the Kansas meet. He thought he would be "blown up" at Lawrence following loss of several of his athletes who were floundering scholastically but the record of the Huskers at Kansas now forms a very pleasant reminiscence for him. He believes he will attract some more attention to the Scarlet and Cream at Des Moines this weekend.

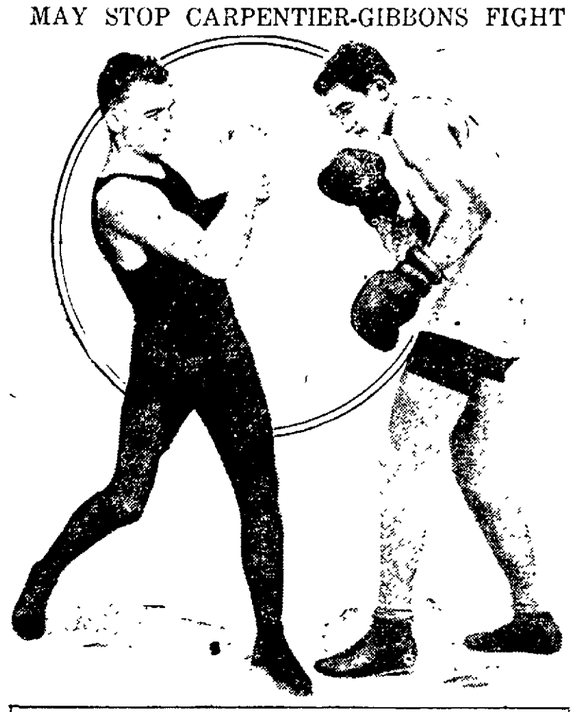

The greatest field of entries ever assembled at Drake will be on hand and it will be necessary, without much doubt, for the Huskers to bear down even harder than they did at Lawrence in order to place.

The special events will find the Huskers fairly well fixed. Roland Locke in the 100-yard dash will get an opportunity that every sprinter in the country dreams of—a chance against Charley Paddock. They will be running on the same track and under the same weather conditions.

The preliminaries will be run on Friday for the purpose of placing only the fleetest and best in the Saturday finals.

The Huskers who made the trip include: Captain Gardner, Locke, Hein, Beerkle, Weir, Crites, Wipperman, Hatch, Turner, Hartman, Myers, Gleason, Davis, Rhodes, Higgins, Lewis, Cohen, Slemmons, Zimmerman and Brainerd.

MAY STOP CARPENTIER-GIBBONS FIGHT

TOM GIBBONS and GEORGES CARPENTIER.

An application for an injunction to prevent the fifteen round fight between Georges Carpentier and Tommy Gibbons in Michigan City, Ind., on May 31 is threatened by Billy Gibson, New York fight promoter, who declares he has Carpentier under contract to fight Gene Tunney in New York on June 20. He declares the contract calls for Carpentier to meet Tunney before any other fight in America.

Yanks Begin Picking Up When Babe Finds Eye and Pitching Improves

By Henry L. Farrell

NEW YORK, April 24.—With Babe Ruth hitting and with the veteran pitchers working better, the New York Yanks are beginning to get on their feet in the American league pennant race.

The champions have jumped into a tie for fourth place with the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians, a slow starting club, which is also just beginning to move at its regular speed.

"We have a veteran club and it was not to be expected that the players would step off on high speed." Miller Huggins, manager of the Yanks, said today. "We had a lot of bad weather in Boston and the boys are not in good condition."

"Babe Ruth is all full of cold. Joe Bush has been bothered by a sore arm and the other pitchers can't do their best until the weather gets warmer."

Huggins figures that the American league is much better balanced now than it was last year and that there is going to be a real pennant fight.

The Yanks ought to repeat as the champions, he said, "but as long as Cleveland and Detroit are in the race there will be no chance to loaf."

Ruth got his second homer of the season yesterday and it may give him his start. He has been worried, the players say, about the trouble he had in getting started and he was getting the idea that his eyes were going bad. Altho he insists that he is in good shape and is able to play every day, the players feel he has not picked up after the attack of flu that took him down at Hot Springs early in the training season.

THE FANNING BEEHIVE

The Tulsa-Lincoln game Wednesday was witnessed by the smallest crowd that has yet turned out at Tulsa. There were 450 in the stands.

"Happy" Campbell, the Kansas City Blues pitcher, who made his initial appearance with the Lincoln club Wednesday, appears to be a good pitcher, in the opinion of the Journal's Tulsa correspondent. Campbell had just gotten off a train when he got the call to relieve Art Stokes who was having too much trouble.

Arrangements whereby state, county and city offices will be closed from 3 p. m. on for opening day next Tuesday have been completed, the Elks committee in charge of this phase of the occasion announced Thursday. Plans for a big automobile parade which will be headed by the Elks band and which will move off from the Elks club at 2:30 p. m. are well under way. The line of march will probably be up P street to Sixteenth; thence to O street and down O to Landis field. The game is called for 3:45.

Byron Speece, former state leaguer, last year with Omaha and this season with Washington, is being used as a relief pitcher. He pitched one inning against Philadelphia Wednesday. He was rushed to the rescue once before this week.

"Buzz" Murphy, the temperamental outfielder, who played some good baseball with Des Moines last year, has stirred Denver fans considerably. The Angengers, Denver owners, have been criticised for not giving Denver talent a chance. Buzz is a Denver boy. They bought him from Minneapolis. Now he refuses to report. Murphy is a good ball player btu he's too eccentric.

SPORT TABLOIDS.

Chicago—Karl Pojello defeated Taro Myaki in their mat contest here last night. Myaki was so badly shaken up that he failed to return for the second fall.

Chicago—"Rip" Wheeler, Cub pitcher, was married yesterday to Miss Roberta Moore, childhood sweetheart, from Marion, Ky.

Chicago—R. L. Ostergard, recruit outfielder, and Admiral Martin, recruit infielder, have been turned loose by the White Sox. Ostergard came from the Galveston club and Martin from the Quebec club. Both were released under option to the Beaumont Texas league club.

Twenty-one Teams in Wesleyan Meet

Nine more high school teams sent in their entry blanks to the Nebraska Wesleyan invitation track meet, to be staged on the Methodist field Friday afternoon. Republican City, Shelby, Greenwood, Ashland, Western, David City, Ohiowa, Seward and Fairfield were the new additions to the list of schools entered. Officials of the meet expect over twenty five institutions in competition. Twenty one teams are already on the books. Coach Preston announced.

Dixon Buys Share Of Beatrice Club

BEATRICE, Neb., April 24.—Ray Dixon of Lincoln today assumed the general management of the Beatrice Tri-state league team, negotiations having been closed Monday whereby he purchased a part interest in the club. The deal that brought Dixon to Beatrice opened the evening prior to the posting of the $750 forfeit money which President Grotte asked. Dixon is given control of the team with Reichle as player-manager and posts $1,000 in cash as guarantee that he will maintain a club able to compete successfully with the other members of the league and remain in the league until the season is officially closed. Dixon is a Florida university athlete and at one time was a pitcher in the Dakota league and later with the Western.

Beatrice Hi Wins Dual Track Meet

BEATRICE, Neb., April 23.—Scoring 95 points to their opponents' 18, the Beatrice high school track team decisively defeated Fairbury in a dual meet held here today. During the meet, Carl Jark, Beatrice, became a strong contender for state pentation honors when he threw the discus 114 feet and ten inches, topping by two feet and three inches the record set up two years ago.

Accompanied by Coach H. M. Garrett, the Beatrice relay team left shortly after the meet for Des Moines, Ia., where they will represent the Nebraska high schools at the Drake relays and on their return, Beatrice will stage the annual southeastern Nebraska district track and field meet. Over twelve teams will participate. The event is scheduled for Wednesday, April 30.

FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS.

New York—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, has been signed to meet Quintin Romero, Chilean heavyweight, on May 9 in the closing indoor show in Madison Square Garden. Paul Berlenbach, New York middleweight, will work in the semi-finals.

ORGANIZING CITY BALL TEAM.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., April 24. A city baseball team for Nebraska City has been tentatively organized at Hayward park. Earl Henniston, catcher for the Auburn team for the past several season, will be captain of the local nine. Attempts are being made to sign Davis, Auburn's whirlwind moundsman, and Saul, the crack southpaw, who made a brilliant record for Brock in 1923. The first game of the season will be played with Auburn here at the driving park Sunday, May 4. Subscriptions on the part of business men, strengthened by receipts of the games, will pay the pitchers for their service. The balance of the team will not be salaried.

WITH RUTH AT BAT.

First inning: Doubled to left.
Third inning: Singled to left.
Sixth inning: Fanned.

William H. Tilden II

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Putting his amateur standing up to the United States Lawn Tennis association, William T. Tilden II, national champion, has announced his resignation as a player from the Davis cup and Olympic teams.

This action was due, Tilden said, to the report of the amateur rule committee of the association, made public last Saturday, in which Tilden said he was referred to as an "evil influence" because of his status as a player writer. Tilden said he did not regard himself as violating either the spirit or letter of the amateur rule.

$100 in Prizes for Crow Shooters.

Sportsman's Digest magazine, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is announcing prizes totaling $100 for short stories concerning crow and vermin hunting.

"So much interest has been taken in the sport of crow shooting," says Jay F. Garlough, editor of the magazine, "and so much good can be accomplished in our game fields through the killing of these pests that we feel the time has come for a series of stories on the new sport."

The first prize will be $50 and full details of the contest which is open to everybody, will be furnished upon request.

TWENTY-ONE RUNS SCORED BY OILERS

TULSA, April 23.—Tulsa walloped the Solons, 23 to 6, in a slugfest Wednesday afternoon making the total runs scored by the Lellvelt crew since the opening day mount to 104 counters. Art Stokes started for Lincoln but lasted less than two frames. Campbell, who relieved him, fared little better.

"Bob" Snyder, star Solon catcher, knocked his third home run of the series in the sixth. Billy Hamilton also had a good day at the plate. Manager Wakefield had the wires hot Wednesday night in an effort to locate some new hurling material. Lincoln played a great game in the field and batted in enough runs to win two ball games, but the pitching was not there. The Solon leader expects to pull away to Chicago Thursday to seek some pitchers from the big league clubs. Wednesday's score:

Stokes, Campbell and Snyder, Conkey, Tesar and Crosby, Casey.

Bonowitz's Double Wins Game.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 24.—Going into the ninth inning one run behind, Omaha rallied and a double by Bonowitz scored O'Neill and Robbins with the runs that beat the Indians, Wednesday, 10 to 9. The locals used four pitchers none of whom was effective. Score:

Omaha	300	040	102	—	10	14	4
Oklahoma City	001	600	020	—	9	9	1

St. Joseph Wins From Denver.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 24.—St. Joseph won from Denver Wednesday, 4 to 2. It was Pitcher Haid's second victory of the season. He was hit eleven times but was effective in the pinches. Score:

Denver	000	100	100	—	2	11	0
St. Joseph	001	000	30x	—	4	8	0

C. Brown and Roche; Haid and Brooks.

Wichita Continues at Top.

WICHITA, Kas., April 24.—Ed Hovlik's pitching coupled with excellent support gave Wichita another victory over Des Moines here Wednesday, 6 to 1. McLarry's homer in the first inning accounted for the Boosters' lone run. Score:

Des Moines	100	0000	000	—	1	9	5
Wichita	002	100	30x	—	6	9	0

Wilson and Anfinsin; Hovlik and McMullen.

Do big league ball players talk to one another during the game? What is the value of doing or not doing this?

Answered by
"CY" PERKINS.

Catcher, Philadelphia Athletics, heralded by many as the best catcher in either league.

It is mostly done in a kidding way. Most always the conversation has nothing to do with baseball.

Some catchers try to talk to the hitters in order to get their mind off off their work, and make them an easy victim for the pitcher. Personally, I do not believe in this. I feel as tho every catcher has enough to do regarding his own work.

Firpo to Tangle With Harry Wills

NEW YORK, April 24.—Luis Firpo, South American heavyweight champion, has accepted terms for a contest against Harry Wills, colored challenger, for the championship, Tex Rickard said here today.

Rickard would not give any details about the date or the place that he had in mind for the bout. The promoter said that Wills had signed a contract several weeks ago in which he agreed to appear in two or three contests and that Firpo would be one of his opponents.

Rickard's representative, Juan Homs, is now in South America and it is understood that he succeeded in getting Firpo to sign for the match.

New Clubs Enter Buffalo County Loop

KEARNEY, Neb., April 22.—With Ravenna, Hazard, and Shelton dropping out of the Buffalo county league after participating for two years, reorganization of the league has taken place and the membership has been increased to eight teams, composed of Elmcreek, Riverdale, Pleasanton, Gibbon, Heartwell, Kenesaw, Minden, and Kearney. A schedule of fourteen games has been adopted, the first game to be played on June 1. Howard Mille., of Elmcreek, was elected president, succeeding L. T. Osborn of Gibbon. Chick Wareham of Kearney was re-elected secretary.

FORM ISAAK WALTON LEAGUE.

FRANKLIN, Neb., April 24.—Members of the fishermen's club of Franklin have organized an Isaak Walton league. Two members of the Red Cloud chapter aided in the organization. The following officers were elected: James Grout, president; Karl L. Spence, secretary; B. W. Harrington, treasurer.

NOT MUCH CHANCE FOR BRITONS--CAMP

Famous Sport Writer Believes the United States Will Retain Its Prestige and Titles at Penn Relays.

By Walter Camp.

Track athletics step to the front this week with the big Penn relays at Philedelphia on Saturday the outstanding feature.

The Cambridge team already has arrived from England. Devotees of the cinder path are watching with interest to see how the Britishers will work out on this side. Particular interest centers about the two-mile relay team. The British have fooled us before, and they may do it again, but this year it looks like they were in for a trouncing.

That two-mile race, tho, promises to be one of the greatest relay events ever held. Not only is the Cambridge team in it, but there are Penn State—which set a record of 7 minutes, 45 4-5 seconds last year—Boston, Georgetown and Michigan.

The mile relay is also most promising, with Yale, Harvard, Virginia and Holy Cross entries.

Then there is the two-mile international, which lists among the entries Fooks of Cambridge, the crack three-miler, who is counted on to do the two-mile course in 9 minutes, 30 seconds. Fooks will need speed, for the other entries include Booth of Johns Hopkins, the intercollegiate champion, Payne of Colby, Lermond of Boston, Forbes of Iowa, Dykeman of Carnegie Tech and Moore of Columbia.

Four Records Set at Drake.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 23.—An interesting fact has been brought to light by John L. Griffith, founder of the Drake relays, in the current issue of his publication, the Athletic Journal.

Within the last two years, new American collegiate records have been set in the five standard relay races, from a quarter of a mile to four miles.

Of the five existing records, four were established in regular competition in the Drake relay meet at Des Moines while the other was set in the Penn relays. Records set on the Drake track follow:

440-yard relay—42.3 seconds, University of Illinois—Sweet, Hughes, Evans, Ayres—made at Des Moines, Ia., April 28, 1923.

880-yard relay—1 minute, 27.5 seconds, University of Illinois—Fitch, Sweet, Evans, Ayres—made at Des Moines, Ia., April 28, 1923.

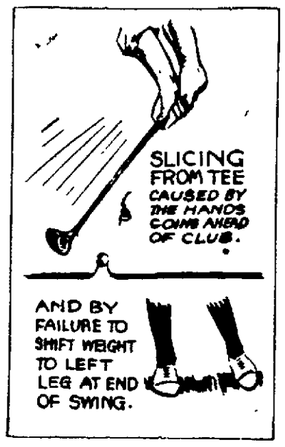

One mile relay—3 minutes, 16.9 seconds, University of Iowa—Morrow, Noll, Wilson, Brooklins—made at Des Moines, Ia., April 28, 1923.

Four mile relay—17 minutes, 46 seconds, University of Illinois—Yates, Patterson, Wharton, McGinness—made at Des Moines, Ia., April 29, 1923.

The one new American collegiate relay mark established at the Pennsylvania relays was made last year when the Penn State quartet, composed of Carter, Edgerton, Enck and Hellfrich, covered the distance in 7 minutes, 48.8 seconds.

This two-mile relay mark is in danger this year and if the dope runs true it will be lowered at the Drake relay meet, April 25 and 26. Coach Steve Farrell of Michigan has entered a quartet of half-mile runners in the local classic which is regarded as the greatest team of its class in any American college today. If Michigan performs up to its possibilities, it will lower the record now held by Penn State, and every one of the five standard records will have been set at the Drake meet.

TED RAY.

The siege gun of English golf. Winner of innumerable tournaments and member of the greatest golf combination in history—the team of "Vardon and Ray."

The chief cause of slicing from the tee is not "getting thru" with the body. I believe that fifty or sixty per cent of golfers have a tendency to slice because they do not "get thru," and they dleiver the weight solidly to the right foot the moment of impact, instead of "carrying thru" and shifting the weight onto the left foot. That causes the club to go across the ball and produces the nasty slice which makes many a round of misery for Mr. "Average Golfer."

LESS BUNK IN GOVERNMENT

SPEAKS FOR COOLIDGE AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

Republican Chairman Urges Citizens to Get Into Politics and Elect Men Who Act Rather Than Talk.

"We have been taught to die for our country, now we must stress the teaching of how to live for our country, if we are to survive as a nation," said J. Reid Green, addressing the county republican convention Thursday at the city auditorium.

"The average citizen of today is too prone to look upon this country in the spirit of what she can do for him, not in the spirit of what he can do for her. This seems too true of all of the many classes and blocs that we have in this country today, and are now concentrating their attention at Washington, looking for their self interest, regardless of whether good for the whole. The immigrant now coming to our shores, seldom thinks of what he can do for this country, but only of what he can get out of it, all tooo frequently planning to return to his native land when he has made his fortune if our people today in place of emphaisizing so called or believed scandals of the administration of our late lamented President Harding, would focus their attention on some of the things hes aid on his fatal swing around the circle and put them into practice, we soon would be able to solve our perplexing problems. President Harding, after three years of bruising conflict and close contact with the selfish struggles and fight for unfair advantages at Washington, knew well the truth whereof he spoke when he said we must return to the religious faith of our forefathers, and the practice of the golden rule for the solution of our national ills.

"Business men, and men in all walks of life, are too busy with their daily routine of business and labor to give proper attention to the running of their government. And, ladies and gentlemen, it will not run itself. I congratulate you who are here that you are actively interested in our government, and are willing to take time to attend this convention. You are doing your duty as citizens. I have no patience with the person who says that politics are rotten, and then refuses to take part in them. If politics are rotten, it is a sad reflection upon our citizenship, because politics is just what the voters, and those who fail to vote, make them. Our government is the biggest business institution on earth, and it will only bes uccessful in accomplishments by each individual citizen.

"Our citizens should stop voting against a man because once in his public career he may have done something they didn't approve of, even tho the other ninety-nine times he did just they thought he should do, but should vote for the man who has the courage of his convictions, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred hits the nail on the head.

"We need today men in office with courage to go ahead and do what they know to be economically sound, and think is best for their government and its citizens collectively, instead of men who are merely seeking to win votes back home by plays for all too frequently useless investigations and all kinds of political claptrap. We have the former kind of man in our President, Calvin Coolidge. A man with courage, a man of action, not a publicity agent. One who dares write a message to congress which all press dispatches from Washington next morning, said was economically sound, but some said was politically unwise. We need economic principles applied to our government, not so called political bunk. And we need a man at the head of our government who will go ahead and apply business methods to it. And because the country realizes its great need at this time and the people recognize such a man in our president, the country will return Calvin Coolidge to the white house next November.

"And what we need in the executive office of our state today is action, not publicity. Results, not words. A governor, not a juggler of figures. At least a man who will not in one breath say that the legislature is responsible for high and extravagant appropriations, and in the very next breath complain that the legislature did not appropriate sufficient funds to run our state government and our educational institutions. I believe the people of this state have had enough, and next November we will elect Adam McMullen governor of Nebraska, a constructive republican legislature and the entire republican ticket with him."

PASSENGERS TRANSFERRED

Over 200 Aboard Steamer Ruth Alexander Shifted to Another Vessel After Mishap.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Transfer of 231 passengers aboard the steamer Ruth Alexander, disabled 325 miles north of San Francisco, to the steamer H. F. Alexander, was ordered early today by the admiral line offices here.

The transfer will be made in Trinidad bay where the Ruth Alexander has ridden at anchor since yesterday afternoon.

The vessel, bound from San Francisco to Portland and Seattle, sprang a leak at 11 a. m. yesterday. Heavy seas prevented her entering Humboldt bay and she was forced to proceed to Trinidad.

The vessels number two hold was reported filled with water, the pumps not functioning properly and there was a 30 degree list to the port side.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

SIMPLE RULES FOR PLAYING MAH JONG

By Madira Gauntier

CHAPTER II

BEGINNING THE GAME OF MAH JONG: To begin the game the 144 tiles are placed upon a square table face downwards and they are shuffled about by the four players until they are well shuffled. Then each player takes thirty-six tiles from the table and places them, face downwards, in a straight row eighteen tiles long and two tiles deep before him. When each player has assembled his row of tiles, he pushes it forward on the table until it meets his neighbors' rows. This will form a square of tiles leaving a hallow center. This square or "wall" represents the old Chinese walls which surrounded Chinese cities. The wall being completed, each person in turn throws the two dice, which are a part of the Mah Jong set, and the player throwing the highest number of points on the dice becomes "East Wind" or "chief" of that game. Each person then becomes a wind. Winds rotate from left to right, so South Wind is the player at East Wind's right, West Wind is the player at South Wind's right and North Wind is the player at West Wind's right. Players sometimes find it difficult to get the correct locations of the winds but if you will remember that South Wind is always at East Wind's right, North Wind is always at East Wind's left and West Wind is always directly opposite East Wind, you will have no difficulty. Each mah jong set contains four round, flat markers which represent the various winds.

Each player should keep his own wind marker before him. As these markers are represented by Chinese characters, it is well to mark them with the English letters—"E. S, W and N." The numerical denomination of East Wind is one South Wind is two, West Wind is three and North Wind is four. Thus, East Wind's flower and season is number one, South Wind's flower and season is number two, West Wind's flower and season is number three and North Wind's flower and season is number four.

Shake Dice Again

East Wind now shakes the dice a second time to determine whose wall is to be broken. The number of points on the dice indicates the person whose wall is to be broken. As East Wind is number one, he counts toward his right, beginning with himself until he comes to the player whose wall is to be broken. Thus, if East Wind's dice score is "8," he counts himself as number 1, South Wind as number 2, West Wind as number 3, North Wind as number 4, East Wind as number 5, etc., until he comes to the person who is number 8. This will be North Wind.

North Wind now shakes the dice to see which tile shall be removed from his wall to break it. He adds his dice score to East Wind's dice score for this purpose and the total of the joint scores represents the number of the stack which is to be removed. Thus, if East Wind's score is 8 and North Wind's score is 5, he adds the two scores, making a grand total of 13 and beginning with the tile at the immediate right of his row, North Wind counts from right to left until he comes to the thirteenth stack. Hhe removes the thirteenth stack (or two tiles) and places these face downward on the top of the wall at the right of the opening. This "kongs," or closes, that end of the wall.

The players now draw the tiles to form their playing hands in turn from the opposite, or left side of the opening. East Wind takes the first two stacks, or four tiles; South Wind takes the next tw stacks, or four tiles; West Wind takes the next tw stacks, or four tiles; North Wind takes the next two stacks, East Wind takes the next two stacks, etc., until each player has taken six stacks, or twelve tiles. East Wind now takes one single tile, or the top pile of the next stack; South Wind takes a single tile, or the bottom tile of that stack; West Wind takes a single tile, or the top tile of the next stack, or the bottom tile of that stack. Now East Wind takes an extra tile, giving him fourteen tiles in his hand. Each other player has thirteen tiles. East Wind is the only player who has fourteen tiles at the beginning of the game, but he must discard one tile after considering his hand, as I shall explain later.

Stacks His Tiles

Each player now stacks his tiles in a single row before him, arranging the tiles to form groups of three consecutive number of the same suit, three of a kind, or four of a kind, as one arranges cards in playing "rum." Thus, combinations are made or planned for future completion. Players having flowers or seasons, among their tiles place them, face upwards, on the table at their right for the inspection of the other players. For each flower or season tile placed upon the table, the player draws a tile from the left wall, as the playing hand must always contain thirteen tiles, and flower and season tiles are not counted as part of the playing hand. East Wind draws first to replace his flowers and seasons, that he has placed upon the table. South Wind draws next, West Wind next, and North Wind next. Whenever, during the game, a flower or season is drawn from the wall, it is immediately replaced by drawing from the wall. After each player has drawn for his flowers and seasons the game begins.

East Wind discards one of the fourteen tiles. He places the discarded tile in the center of the wall, face upwards, calling the number and suit of the tile aloud, so that all may hear. South Wind, the player at East Wind's right, can now either pick up East Wind's discard or he can draw a tile from the open or left wall. He can only take East Wind's discard if it will form a "chow," "pung," or "kong" in his hand.

After having taken the discarded tile or drawn a tile from the wall, South Wind fits the tile to his hand and discards a tile, calling his discard by suit and number, and the game proceeds to West Wind, etc.

Tomorrow I will explain the terms used in scoring Mah Jong.

TAKE UP CHILD LABOR

Federal Regulation of Practice Thru Amendment to Constitution Considered.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Twice thwarted by decisions of the supreme court, federal regulation of child labor was to be taken up by the house today in the form of a constitutional amendment.

Congress previously passed laws regulating interstate commerce in child labor products and taxing commodities produced by child labor, but in each case the supreme court ruled the legislation unconstitutional.

A large majority in the house was known to favor the resolution when it was brought up today, but considerable doubt existed as to whether the majority was sufficient to secure the necessary two-thirds vote.

Under the special rule granted for consideration six hours' debate will be allowed before the vote. Final vote is expected tomorrow.

ANSWER TO DAUGHERTY

WHEELER DECLARES HIS SORT MAKES BOLSHEVIKI.

Former Attorney General Had Declared Wheeler and Brookhart Were Actuated by Friendship for Soviet.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—"Such untaithful servants as Daugherty and Fall have made more bolsheviks in America in a few weeks than a thousand soviet agents could make in a decade," Senator Wheeler, Montana, declared today, in replying to former Attorney General Daugherty's "defense speech" in Columbus last night.

Wheeler's statement to the United Press was provoked by what he termed "Daugherty's cunning but baseless insinuations" that he and Senator Brookhart, Iowa, were "inspired" by soviet officials to investigate the department of justice.

"In his array of distorted truths," said Wheeler, "Daugherty has taken refuge behind the last resort of modern knaves striving desperately to divert the public mind from their own corruption. When all else fails, they trot out the 'red peril' bugaboo. His pitifully absurd smoke screen will only meet with ridicule.

"But this discredited official does not exaggerate the dangers that threaten the republic if the Daughertys and the Falls are not driven from office. That is the danger the senate committee, by baring the corruption in the department of justice is seeking to avert.

"There is a rising tide of discontent in America. Government by blackmail and the private sale of the public domain have brought it to the danger point. Nothing can check it if the bolshevik makers are left in office.

"That is the task to which the senate committee has dedicated itself. Washington must be made unsafe for grafters of the Jess Smith and Howard Mannington type—Daugherty's bosom friends. It must be made impossible for another Daugherty to dispense czarist Russia justice in the legal department of the government."

Wheeler added that the "squeal of a cornered rat" would not stop the investigation.

COLUMBUS, O., April 24.—"Russian communism" was blamed by ex-Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, at a testimonial dinner in honor here last night, with being responsible for the senate investigations that forced him out of office.

"The soviets failed to gain control of the labor organizations of this country, and so arranged pilgrimages to Moscow for certain members of the United States senate."

Daugherty said he had given up his cabinet post rather than "contribute to a treasonable cause."

Files of the department of justice, he said, contained "abundant proof of the plans, purposes and hellish designs of the communist internationale."

"Bear in mind" he said, "that the files which I refused to deliver to the Wheeler committee, at the time my resignation was requested, were demanded by Brookhart and Wheeler, two United States senator, who spent last summer with their soviet friends—those same communist leaders who preach destruction of constitutional government."

GOES TO HIGHER COURT.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Ralph C. Richardson, stepson of Thomas E. Wilce, millionaire lumberman, today appealed from the decision of a jury in Judge Hosea Wells' court which yesterday found him guilty of manslaughter.

Richardson was the driver of a car which ran down and killed seven-year-old Dorothy Marguerite Joyce and injured her mother some weeks ago.

Judge Wells has set the case for next Tuesday. Richardson is at liberty on $10,000 bonds.

UNION BUYS A NEW HOME

FORMER STAR BUILDING TO FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

May Erect a New Structure for the Company's Home Office at Eleventh and M in the Near Future.

The Union Fire Insurance company has bought the former Star building at Eleventh and M streets. The deal was closed Thursday morning.

The company will not get possession until late in the summer, as the Star is still using the property for a press room and mailing house, because of delay in the delivery of a new press ordered for the new building. By the time possession can be secured the insurance company will have its plans complete.

The location will be used for the home office of the fire insurance company. A considerable sum will be spent in remodeling the building if it is finally decided not to build at this time. If a new building is decided upon it will be a five story modern office structure.

WAR AGAINST BILLBOARDS PRESSED IN MIDDLE-WEST

CHICAGO, April 24.—Minnesota leads in the war on billboards, Albert Drew, president of the Municipal Art league, declared today at the opening of Chicago's anti-billboard crusade.

"The billboard evil is getting into the consciousness of the people more than ever," said Mr. Drew, commenting on the action of Florenz Ziegfeld in discontinuing billboard advertising and concentrating his appropriations on newspaper publicity.

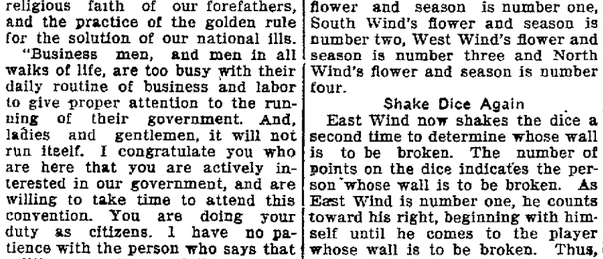

"Nearly every day we read of national advertisers who have come to see the error of their ways. Minnesota is tearing down signs on her public highways and is leading in the movement."

CROSS COUNTRY CAR HERE

Jewett Six, En Route From Coast to Coast, Reaches Lincoln Thursday Morning.

The Jewett Six transcontinental car reached Lincoln Thursday morning on the second leg of its non-stop run from San Francisco to New York and return. The journey, the drivers reporetd, had consumed sixty-four hours on its arrival at Lincoln. The object of the trip is to test durability of the car, and incidentally furnish data for a study of the problem of disintegration of motor oil.

The car heralds its approach with a shrieking siren, and many Lincoln people, hearing it, stopped to watch for the ambulance or fire department. Earl R. West and Fred Moore are piloting the car. A short stop was made in Denver for oil, but the engine was not stopped.

in the spirit in which it was conceived. It is absolutely true that Mr. Goodhue gave of his best abilities not because of the financial returns but primarily and fundamentally because he was putting into it the soul of an architect, and because he was well aware of, even if modest to express, the fact that the Nebraska state capitol is one of the great buildings of the world. No man could erect for himself or for his art a more superb memorial and no people amidst whom such a memorial is placed could be less than merely grateful in carrying the work forward to the completion of which the artist dreamed."

A Great Loss to Nebraska.

W. E. Hardy, member of the capitol commission, was greatly shocked by the news in the morning paper of the death of Mr. Goodhue. The members of the commission had met their architect only a few days ago and noticed that he seemed to be in unusually good health and spirits. He went thru the usual consultation with the commissioners and seemed to be pleased with the progress being made on the building.

The death of the architect is looked upon by Mr. Hardy personally as a great loss to the state. It is not so serious as it would have been had it occurred before the completion of the plans. The entire structure has been designed and the drawings are in the possession of the commission. These permit the building to be completed according to the original design. So far as the integrity of the structure is concerned and the beauty of its exterior, practically nothing will be lost by the dropping out of the man whose genius inspired it.

"The great loss to the state," Mr. Hardy said, "will be in the final touches. The last strokes of the pencil that may add so much to the beauty of the completed work. The sculpture by Lee Laurie is practically complete and has received the approval of Mr. Goodhue. Where we will miss his services will be when the time comes to put the last touches on the legislative halls and the soldiers' memorial room. He was a great genius who could feel the difference between the artistic and the inartistic and could tell us at once what we ought to do to secure the best results."

Mr. Hardy was asked how much he thought the investigation of a year ago last winter had shortened Mr. Goodhue's life. He felt that the incident had been serious to the architect. He has always lived intensely and the shock of the legislative investigation had greatly increased the tension under which he was living. In recent months the members of the commission have been hopeful of his recovery from the effects of that experience and his sudden death now comes as a great and unexpected shock.

The Goodhue Organization.

The first news of the death of Mr. Goodhue was received thru the morning paper by William M. Younkin, who is the local representative of the architect and clerk of the works for the commission. He spoke in the highest terms of his chief, with whom he has been associated since 1915, with the exception of time taken out for war service. Mr. Younkin said that he supposed Mr. Goodhue's business would be carried on indefinitely by his present organization. He has a large number of trained men who carry out the details of his work. There are several designers for example who have been making the details for the capitol for about three years. Several times a day, when he was in town, Mr. Goodhue was in the habit of going thru the work rooms, stopping at every table and making criticisms and suggestions. The men who have been doing this work, Mr. Younkin believes, are thoroly competent to carry it thru to completion. In fact, nearly all of the designs have been made and need only the finishing touches to prepare them for the building.

The Goodhue organization is housed on the top floor of a thirteen story building just off Fifth avenue on West Forty-seventh street, New York. A large amount of important work is now passing thru. In addition to the large projects already mentioned is the library for Yale, which will cost many millions. So far as the work on the capitol proper is concerned, Mr. Younkin is of the opinion that the organization can complete it without difficulty. Where the help of the master will be needed most keenly will be when the time comes for the mural paintings and other interior decoration. The murals, however, were no part of Mr. Goodhue's commission, and he may not have cared to be responsible for them in any event.

An Irreparable Loss

Thomas R. Kimball of Omaha, who was president of the American Institute of architects when Mr. Goodhue was selected as architect of the capitol commission, said on Tuesday morning that he had a feeling of irreparable loss, not only as a citizen of Nebraska but as a member of the national institute.

"I look upon Mr. Goodhue," he said, "as one of the great architects of all time. Given the opportunities some of the great masters enjoyed and he would have done equally good work. Even in these days, when the architect must work against tremendous difficulties, he has done notable work. It is a great disappointment to lose him when he seemed to be just rounding into the best part of his career. Had he lived, he would have planned in the next few years, some of the most wonderful buildings of the day. His going is a great loss to the country and a great loss to Nebraska. The plans may all be made for the capitol, it is true, but the mind of the master was still needed to direct the workmen until the last touch is made upon the structure and upon the decoration."

the agreement requires the architect to give the capitol commission one copy of each record drawing and specification for its files.

The agreement binds both the commission and the architect, their successors, executors, administrators and assigns. The architect is authorized to have a right to join with him other architects with whom he may enter into partnership, subject to the capitol commission's approval, and if one architect should die the duties and rights of the architect shall devolve upon the remaining partner or partners, but neither party to the agreement is authorized to assign or transfer his or its interest without the consent of the other.

The Resolutions.

The following resolutions were passed:

"Whereas, the republican party of Nebraska presents to the voters as its candidate for president, a man, whose motto is brevity, and who, as president, has proven his capacity to do great things without talking about them—Calvin Coolidge; and

"Whereas, the republican party of Nebraska presents to the voters as its candidate for United States senator, a man, who at eery crisis in the age-long struggle between popular rights and special privilege has turned the tide of battle to the side of the great common people—George W. Norris, and

"Whereas, the republican party of Nebraska presents to the voters as its candidate for governor a finished man of affairs and a pragmatic administrator, whose success bespeaks for the politically windswept taxpayers of Nebraska a regime of actual and tangible fulfillment—Adam McMullen; and

"Whereas, the republican party of Nebraska and of Lancaster county presents to the oters as its candidate for each and every other public office in the gift of the people men whose record of public service is an open book, and whose valued contributions to good government in this state speak resonantly for themselves;

"Therefore, be it resolved by the republican party of Lancaster county, Nebraska, in convention assembled:

"That we decry, as groundless and wholly political in motive, the explosive and expensive efforts of certain democratic national leaders to bring into undeserved calumny and disrepute the praiseworthy, courageous and successful stewardship of President Calvin Coolidge.

"That we do hereby concisely but emphatically express and convey to all and sundry our abiding faith and confidence in the republican party and in its fleet of earnest, capable standard bearers.

"That w edo hereby solemnly promise and pledge to each and every one of the republican nominees for public office, individually and collectively, our loyal, enthusiastic and undivided assistance and support in the coming general election of 1924."

TEACHERS FARM "CAMPUS"

Teachers College Students Who Desire Are Given Board in Exchange for Labor.

KEARNEY, Neb., April 24.—Conversion of thirty acres of the state teachers' college campus here into a miniature farm may prove one of the salvations of the institution, according to President Martin.

Students working their way thru the institution are given valuable employment on the farm he said besides the added work that can be done on the limited revenue derived from the project.

Students working their way thru by aiding in farming the "campus" are paid in board which is taken from the soil.

LATE NEWS OF YESTERDAY

NORRIS DENIES HE SUPPORTED THORPE

Circulation of Thorpe's Speech Under Norris' Frank Started a False Report, the Senator Asserts.

Senator George W. Norris denies a story recently put in circulation thru a newspaper editorial to the effect that he had supported the Thorpe candidacy for congress in the First district primaries. The report was based on the circulation under Senator Norris' frank of a speech by Mr. Thorpe. In a letter to the Journal the senator says:

"It is perhaps unnecessary for me to say that I took no part in the primary campaign in the Lincoln congressional district. I did not even know who the candidates were. I had no interest whatever in Mr. Thorpe's candidacy. When I read this editorial I did not at first understand what it had reference to, but my secretary called to my attention the fact that last summer, when I was trying to recuperate my health in Wisconsin, a request had come from Mr. Thorpe, asking that a speech which he made in the house when he was a member, be printed and sent out under my frank. When she called my attention to it, I remembered the entire transaction. She sent this letter from Mr. Thorpe to me in Wisconsin, together with a copy of the speech which he proposed to circulate. The speech was on prohibition. I read it and approved it. In my opinion it was of sufficient merit to circulate, and I wrote my secretary to have the number of copies which he requested (I think it was 5,000), printed and sent to Mr. Thorpe. This is all I know about it, and in brief, this tells the whole story. I had no thought of Mr. Thorpe's candidacy and do not know now whether he sent them out at that time, or whether he waited and sent them out during the primary campaign.

"I believed this speech on prohibition was worthy of circulation, and that the circulation of it would do good. No thought entered my mind then, and no thought has entered it since, that there could be any possible criticism of such a course. I have often sent under my frank, speeches and public documents upon subjects in which I believed the people were interested, without regard as to whether I was the author of the speech or document. I think this is true, and always has been true, of every member of congress. The little progressive group to which I belong have practically no other way of informing the people of the country as to the issues and questions involved in the consideration of national legislation. In my opinion, it is a perfectly proper use of the frank.

"Hundreds of thousands of copies of speeches which I have made, have been circulated by other senators and members of the house under their own franks. In the coming campaign it will be found that every candidate for congress, either on the republican ticket or on the democratic ticket, who is not now a member of congress and therefore having no franking privilege, will be able to get an unlimited number of speeches and documents for circulation in the campaign, under the frank of a senator or representative now entitled to the franking privilege.

"I have never knowingly permitted anything to go out under my frank, the contents of which I did not approve. I do not know whether this editorial deserves my attention, but if it does, I have above briefly narrated the facts. The evident intention of the editorial is to influence those republicans who were opposed to Mr. Thorpe's nomination, and I concede if I had taken part in that primary there would be justification for such a feeling. If I had done so I would be perfectly willing to assume the responsibility, whatever it might be, but I repeat, I had no interest whatever in the controversy and I do not myself see how a single vote could possibly have been changed by the fact that a public document was sent out by one of the contestants, under my frank."

Amusements

Recital by Miss Alexander.

A large audience was present at Temple theater Wednesday evening to hear the piano recital given by Miss Dorothy Alexander to mark the completion of her course under Gustav Menzendorf. Miss Alexander is the second gifted blind girl to give a public recital recently. She played a long and difficult program with much musical taste. The memorizing of so much music was a feat in itself for one who must depend upon raised characters for the reading of the notes. The three movements of Beethoven's sonata, opus 27, commonly known as the "Moonlight" were played entire. Miss Alexander was at her best in poetic selections or in those with runs and other embellishments lightly and rapidly played. She is of slight physique and has scarcely the strength for the heavier phases of the musical art. The adagio movement of the Beethoven sonata, the Chopin-Liszt "Chant Polonaise," Greig's "Notturno" and the melody introduced in the Chopin Scherzo which closed the program, were all of a style to which the pianist seem best suited.

The floral offerings were very numerous and many friends remained after the recital to offer congratulations to the young pianist. The program was as follows:

Solfeggietto and Allegro di Molto, Carl Phillipp Emmanuel Bach.
Sonata, Op. 27 Beethoven.
Adagio in B minor, Mozart.
Fantasia No. 1, in D minor. Mozart.
Chant Polonais (My Delights), Chopin-Liszt.
Night Visions (Nachtstruck), Op. 23, No. 4, Schumann.
Mazurka, in F sharp minor, Debussy.
Noturne, Op. 54, No. 4, Grieg.
Scherzo in B flat minor, Op. 31, Chopin.

ASKS $50,000 FOR LIFE

Union Pacific Charged With Causing Death of Sigfrid Matson in Crossing Accident.

E. C. Nordlund, administrator of the estate of Sigfried Matson, deceased, has filed suit against the Union Pacific railroad for $50,000 and the case was transferred to the federal court Wednesday from the district court of Hamilton county.

The petition recites that a Union Pacific crossing about two miles east of the village of Clarks, in Merrick county, was in such bad order last fall that the gravel had blown away, leaving the rails six inches or more above the ground and causing dangerous holes and ruts in the road. Mr. Matson drove on to the crossing in an auto on October 20, it is said, and was stalled, the wheels being caught and the engine killed. Just then a fast train came along at high speed and without, it is alleged, giving warning by bell and whistle while still eighty rods from the crossing, and struck the stalled car, killing Mr. Matson instantly.

Mr. Matson was a farmer forty-two yeras old. He is survived by his widow and four children, ranging in age from two to sixteen years. His administrator asks damages in the sum of $50,000 with interest from the day of his death.

BAN ON SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS

Crete Draws Curtain On Dances and Theaters On Sabbath.

CRETE, Neb., April 23.—An ordinance was recently put into effect here to prohibit Sunday amusements within the corporate limits of the city. Public dances, wrestling and boxing bouts, swimming pools, skating rinks, theaters and bowling alleys must be closed on the Sabbath according to the new ruling.

Life gives you just 13 years of real health—and happiness

Average Health Span extends only from age 18 to age 31, according to United States Life Tables, 1920

Assuming that you are the average person, you will enjoy health—physical freedom and full vigor—only from age 18 to 31. This astounding fact is shown by the United States Life Tables, 1920.

Your earning power will decrease rapidly after 40. That period commonly called "the prime of life" will actually be an age of decay.

This sounds sensational. It is sensational. But it is true—and it is something to which the wise man or woman will give serious thought.

Of course, it is not natural, or right. It is the direct result of an artificial mode of life—of careless eating, sleeplessness, and stimulated nerves. Nature provides a danger signal—fatigue—to warn when the body needs rest. The person who regularly deadens the fatigue signal by the use of a drug is overriding the warning of nature.

That is what coffee does. The average cup of coffee contains 1½ to 3 grains of the drug caffein—classified as a poison. This is a dose of caffein of the size often administered by physicians in cases of heart failure. It is a powerful stimulant. It appears to give new strength by deadening the fatigue signal. Actually, this new strength is robbed from the body's own reserve.

Coffee contains no nourishment. Its only virtues, as a beverage, are its warmth and flavor. A good, hot, drugless drink is a benefit with every meal.

Millions enjoy such a drink in Postum. A drink made of whole wheat and bran, skillfully roasted, with a little sweetening—nothing more. A drink with the rich, mellow, full-bodied flavor of this wholesome grain. Every member of the family can drink it every meal of the day, enjoy its deliciousness, crave it, knowing there isn't a sleepless hour, a headache, or a taut nerve in it.

For the sake of your years following age 31, we want you to try Postum for thirty days. You can't expect to overcome the effects of a habit of years in two or three days, or even a week. To make this a sporting proposition, we will give you a week's supply of Postum free. Enough for a cup with every meal for a week. But we want you to carry on for the full thirty days.

Carrie Blanchard, who has personally served Postum to over 500,000 people, will send you her own directions for preparing it. Indicate whether you want Instant Postum, the easiest drink in the world to prepare, or Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Either form costs less than most other hot drinks. PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

Governor Bryan, Mayor Zehrung, Major Erickson and a large number of other public officials and private citizens with their wives, have consented to attend and sponsor the benefit to be given at the auditorium, beginning at 10:30 on Friday night by the national vaudeville association. The proceeds are all to be used for the relief of sick and disabled vaudeville people. The general public will be admitted. Seven orchestras and fifteen vaudeville acts will participate. This is an important affair for the vaudeville people, who are sending acts and orchestras from Omaha, Des Moines, Kansas City, and other places in the west.

The Fifty-Fifty dancing club closed its season Wednesday evening with a formal dinner dance at the Country club with one hundred people in attendance. The tables, at which the guests were seated for dinner, were attractive with pink roses and candles in silver sticks. A program of the older pieces of music was given with every other dance. The following were guests of the club: Mrs. Everett Sawyer, Miss Marie Richenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linn, of Kimball, Miss Mabel Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Max Westerman, Major and Mrs. J. F. Presnell, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Steckley, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Woods, Col. and Mrs. John G. Maher, Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Teal, Dr. J. J. Hompes, Dr. C. H. Bastron and Frank Watson. Mrs. D. M. Butler was in charge of arrangements.

Dr. and Mrs. G. I. Dakin of Detroit, Mich., are stopping in Lincoln at the Lincoln hotel enroute to Minneapolis.

J. E. Miller, representing the Chicago News, was in Lincoln Wednesday. He called on Governor Bryan and other state officers and politicians in Lincoln to gather information concerning the political situation in Nebraska from a national standpoint. He making a tour of the middle western states. Some of his queries bear upon the chances of support for a third political party headed by the Lafollette group and the chances of President Coolidge carrying the state.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Frances Lorraine auxiliary gave a social and party for members and friends at V. F. W. hall Wednesday evening. The rooms were decorated in purple and gold. The guests danced and played cards, music being furnished by the V. F. W. three-piece orchestra. At 10:30 refreshments consisting of pie and coffee were served. Fifty couples were present. Members of the committee in charge were Mrs. C. A. Hossie, Mrs. G. C. Knight, Mrs. C. R. Gochnour, and Miss Ruth Case.

Dan Whalen, chief engineer of the Fairmont Creameries and whose home is at Crete, has returned from Moorehead, Minn., and Pittsburgh, Pa., where he spent several weeks installing machinery in new plants.

John Major, younger son of Mrs. Mary Campbell Major, returned Wednesday after an absence of nearly seven months. He left early last fall with relatives to visit Europe. Most of the winter was spent in France, but he also visited the British isles and Italy, and saw something of northern Africa. Since landing in New York nearly two weeks ago, he went to Boston and made brief visits to a number of relatives in the New England states, and stopped at Columbus, O., on the way west.

Members of the old Company F, Second regiment, Nebraska national guards, will gather for a banquet at the home of Frank Du Teil, 1928 A street, next Friday, to celebrate the twenty-sixth anniversary of the ordering of that unit into active service. Plans to have the officers present could not be realized, due to the distances which they would have to travel. Capt. A. E. Campbell is at Seattle, Wash., Lieut. Lincoln Wilson at Denver, Colo., and Lieut. George E. Gascoigne is at Vancouver, B. C. The committee in charge of arrangements is Jacob H. North, Frank Du Teil, E. C. Hamilton and C. H. Dean.

Chancellor and Mrs. I. B. Schreckengast, of Nebraska Wesleyan, left Wednesday afternoon for Boston to attend a meeting of Nebraska Wesleyan alumni next Tuesday. They will go to Springfield, Mass., for the quadriennial of the Methodist Episcopal church. Chancellor Schreckengast will return to deliver the baccalaureate sermon at Wesleyan June 1. Students and faculty of Wesleyan gathered on the campus early Wednesday afternoon and marched to the chancellor's home, led by the university band. Roscoe Chenoweth, representing the college council, expressed the pleasant wishes of the university body for the eastward journey of Chancellor and Mrs. Schreckengast and then presented them with a gift of roses. Beryl Snyder led the students in university yells.

The Upsilon chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota sorority will present the following program Thursday evening for transmission over the Nebraska Wesleyan radio station. The accompanists will be Bertha McClain and Wanda Cook. The program:

Soprano solo, Trees, Rosbach, Ethel Evans.

BAKER IS OFFICER OF DAY

Lieutenant in Iowa Regiment Will Conduct Spanish War Veterans' Ceremonial.

James D. Baker, who served as a lieutenant with the Fifty-first Iowa regiment in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war, has been selected to have charge of the flag-raising at Lincoln on national flag day. The ceremonies are to be conducted upon the Spanish war memorial site in Antelope park and will be a feature of the state encampment that will be in session here in Lincoln June 14.

Commander Claude P. Hensel has asked that all Spanish war veterans residing in Lancaster county attend the called meeting in Walsh hall Saturday evening to receive State Commander D. Burr Jones of Omaha and Lieutenant Baker, who will accompany him.

TO PEN FOR HAVING LIQUOR

John Shea pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor before District Judge Shepherd Wednesday afternoon and was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary. This is the third time Shea has been taken into custody for violation of the prohibition law. At a former trial he was sentenced to serve six months in jail and was given a $400 fine by Judge Munger.

HEARING RESTORED OFTEN IN 24 HOURS

Amazing Results Secured in One Day by Use of K-17, Formerly Known as Rattle Snake Oil.

Deafness and Head Noises need not be dreaded any longer since the discovery of a widely known physician. Now it is possible for some of the most obstinate cases of deafness to be relieved in a day's time by the application of a prescription formerly known as Rattle Snake Oil. This treatment is meeting with wide success all over the country.

Mr. D. Dey, a Nebraska resident, 67 years old, says, "I have used the treatment for only two weeks and my hearing is restored perfectly. The relief was almost instantaneous and now the head noises have disappeared. My catarrh, a case of many years' standing, is improving wonderfully."

Fred McIntyre, a Kansas resident, says: "I have used K-17 for two weeks and can hear a watch tick. It has also nearly removed all evidences of my catarrh."

Head Noises Stopped.

Henry Vertein, a Wisconsin resident, says: "I have used K-17 for only ten days and my head noises have stopped entirely and my hearing has shown a wonderful improvement."

Hears Clock Tick.

Frank Quinn, of Mississippi, says: "Before I used K-17 I had not heard the clock tick in a long time. And after I had taken the treatment two days I could lay in bed and hear the clock tick plainly.

D. E. Bryant, of Georgia, says: "I began using K-17 on Monday and on Saturday of the same week I was hearing and have been hearing ever since. Thank you once, twice, thrice."

Head Noises Stopped in 5 Days

Mrs. D. C. Wilkins, of Mississippi, says, "K-17 has helped me wonderfully. In five days it has stopped that awful noise in my ears. I think it is a grand medicine."

Mrs. C. Roberts, of Florida, says: "I was entirely deaf in my left ear for two years and then in both. When I got your treatment I could hear in twenty-four hours."

Such amazing reports come from all over this country and foreign countries. The prescription, which is known as K-17, is easily used at home and seems to work like magic in its rapidity on people of all ages.

So confident are we that K-17 will restore your hearing quickly, and to introduce this remarkable treatment to a million more sufferers, we will send a large $2.00 treatment for only $1.00 on ten days' free trial. If the results are not satisfactory the treatment costs nothing.

Send no money—just your name and address to the Green Laboratories, 68 Greene Bldg., Kansas City, Kan., and the treatment will be mailed at once. Use it according to the simple directions. If at the end of 10 days your hearing is not relieved, your head noises gone entirely, just send it back and your money will be refunded without question. This offer is fully guaranteed, so write today and give this wonderful treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

CARVING ON NEW CAPITOL

PART OF PROPOSED STATE SEAL BEING USED.

Federal Coat of Arms and State Motto, "Equality Before the Law," Over Entrance.

The main entrance to the new capitol is now gridironed with scaffolding for the use of artists who are to carve designs which the capitol commission has adopted. High up on either side of the big arch which forms the entrance a design is now being worked out in the stone. On the left the coat of arms of the United States, with the eagle as the prominent figure, is being sketched for carving. On the right the design will be in the form of a panel, "Equality Before the Law," the state motto, is at the bottom of the design. The capitol commission at one time proposed to place the new state seal in this position, but when it was learned by the commissioners that the new seal designed by Architect Goodhue upon request of a legislative commission, had not been legally adopted, that design as a whole was abandoned. The old state seal is not deemed suitable for reproduction in stone because of its much detail.

The design agreed upon contains some of the objects in the proposed new state seal. The figures of the two antelopes, symbol of the "Antelope" state, will not be included in the carving over the main entrance but will be carved in wood in the governor's suite. The fasces, made up of a bundle of sticks with battle axe projecting, which was the Roman emblem of authority, is to be carved in the panel. The main figure in the proposed new seal, the buffalo head resting upon three books, will be conspicuous in the carved panel. The scale of justice will also be included.

Much of the carving on the new capitol will be six inches deep in the surface stone and will be done by means of pneumatic hammers. The artists use a model and by looking at it reproduce it in the stone.

MERE MENTION.

A cord tire and rim with tire cover were taken from a car belonging to R. M. Leslie, 303 North Thirty-fourth, while the machine was parked at Twenty-second and Franklin.

A Ford coupe belonging to the Auto Exchange, 1730 O street, caught fire Wednesday evening while parked at the curb. Firemen were called and the blaze was soon extinguished. Defective wiring is thought to have been the cause.

Ruth M. Gould was granted a decree of divorce from Edwin V. Gould Wednesday afternoon by District Judge Frost on grounds of extreme cruelty and non-support. The couple were married in Sioux City, Ia., on September 2, 1915. There are no children. Mrs. Gould's maiden name, Ruth Miller, was restored to her.

Thirty-seven Masons took part as members of the Scottish Rite class in the conferring of degrees on Wednesday. Several hundred members of the rite broke bread together at noon and will do so again on Thursday and Friday. Many visitors from out of the city are taking part in the reunion.

Katie Thompson, Eleventh and Charleston streets, who was charged with assault and battery, was found guilty by Justice Stevens Wednesday afternoon and fined $10 and costs. She paid the fine. She is alleged to have slapped Alex Weber, the small son of a neighbor on the back of the head and then hurled a brick at him, hitting him in the face. Katie Thompson admitted slapping the boy on the back of the head, but denied flinging of the brick. She said that the brick was flung at her by Alex, after which he was slapped on the back of the neck, according to her testimony. The defendant was arraigned on April 15 when she pleaded innocent and was released on $200 bond. The assault took place April .

MANY SEE ATHLETIC SHOW

Every available seat in the Whittier junior high school gymnasium was occupied Wednesday night at the first annual physical training demonstration presented by seventh, eighth and ninth grade students. More than a thousand attended the exercises, it was estimated.

Thirteen events were presented, each representing a different phrase of physical training taught to the students during the regular class periods. Special costumes lent a dash of color and animated to the Spanish, Dutch and oxen dances. The clowns also appeared in full regalia. Girl students made the costumes as part of their domestic science training.

Four hundred and fifty pupils from all of the various gymnasium classes took part in the program. Miss Bertha Lambert and C. L. Dow, physical training instructors, supervised the entertainment, which was very well received.

Special emphasis was placed on student responsibility and honor in maintaining order abong the large groups of children awaiting their turns on the program. Faculty members checked it up to their pupils to see that boisterous talking and playing was not allowed. The program consisted of wand drills, fancy tumbling, Indian club exhibitions, pyramid drills and dances.

LATEST MARKETS

CHICAGO, April 24.—Grains sagged at the start of trade on the Chicago board of trade here today.

Wheat started with an unsettled undertone. Trading was light and confined to locals. Liberal offerings of Canadian and Argentine wheat abroad together with satisfactory crop news were among the bearish factors.

Weakness in spot prices, heavier receipts and lower wheat brought initial downturns in corn.

Oats, showing a better undertone, opened firm.

Provisions started unchanged with hogs and cables.

Grain Market Opinions.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Unless politics are injected into the markets, the trade looks for liberal liquidation in May wheat, possibly corn within the next week. Good deliveries of cash wheat are expected here and in Winnipeg in the first part of May. This may depress values.

Illinois is consigning more wheat to Chicago. Absence of export business in new crop, wheat is one of the depressing factors in the trade. There were inquiries yesterday, howere, for new hard winters for July-August export at the seabord. It was stated prices were one cent above Manitobas.

The noticeable factor in the wheat market is lack of buying power particularly on the bulges.

Receivers are disposed to look for some enlargement in the marketing of corn within the next few weeks.

Missouri river markets and St. Louis are getting more corn than Chicago. Bulls in corn call attention to the prevailing premiums. One observer figures that this condition will mean limited deliveries on may contracts.

American corn is 10c out of line for export and Argentina has 200,000,000 bushels for export, the largest surplus on record. This is against our exporting any corn this season. The grain, however, is mainly a domestic proposition, so exports cut little figure. There are prospects of an increase acreage.

Export sales yesterday were 750,000 wheat including 32,000 No. 2 hard winter via the gulf. The United Kingdom was reported re-selling, while Italy was still after Manitobas. Rye sales 100,000 bushels.—Lamson.

Journal of Commerce Report.

Stein Alstrin: We favor conservative purchase on the dips.

Harris Winthrop & Co.: There seems to be no or positive opinions as to the future course of the market.

Clement Curtis & Co.: The outstanding phase is the limited demand.

Hulburd, Warre & Chandler: We expect lower prices for wheat and corn.

Logan & Bryan: On any further decline we favor the buying side.—Lamson.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Leading commission houses are advocating the transfer of open interest in May wheat to more minishing amount of speculative trading, and the liberal stocks of wheat shown in the world's available supply.—Lamson.

Herald-Examiner Report.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Wheat traders look for a sagging trend until after the first of the month at least. Minneapolis, St. Louis and Omaha received 153,000 bushels even yesterday, and 481,000 bushels. Local stocks are also decreasing. The world's total, however, showed an increase for the week as compared with last year, according to Bradstreets statement.

Early weather forecast indicates showers in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, Sout Dakota; rain or snow North Dakota and Wyoming.—Lamson.

Chicago Tribune Report.

Hornblower && &Weeks Says: We regard the risk in buying stocks to too great to justify commitments on the long side at the present time. Some time within the next few weeks, however, we look for a distinct change.

J. S. Bache Q Co. Say: Eventually, we look for an increase in C. &. O. dividend rate and a possible merger with Nickle Plate.—Lamson.

Hog Run Is Dropping Off.

OMAHA, April 24.—Evidences are at hand that the phenomenal run of hogs which have for the last year been arriving at principal livestock markets is at an end. In fact, the pendulum now seems to have swung in the other direction, and for the last twelve or fifteen days, receipts of hogs have been below requirements. In the twenty principal markets, the volume of receipts has been lessened by 881,000 hogs so far this year, than during the corresponding period last year, and in the seven principal markets the decrease has been 775,000 hogs. The hogs that were arriving four months ago were yielding about 67 per cent dressed products. Today, a better grade of animals are reaching the market—more matured and better fed—and they are yielding about 70 per cent of dressed products. The ham yield, all kinds, from a live hog represents approximately 12½ per cent of the live weight, but it isn't every hog that produces the best grade of hams. A little under half of the hogs that are received on the market do not provide hams that can be graded in the class that is being quoted at $20.40.

Chicago Livestock.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Cattle: receipts 11,000; market most killing classes draggy unevenly lower; better grades fat steers and most grades fat she stock 10@25c off; early top matured steers $11.25; some held around $12.00; bulls weak 15c off; most bolognas $4.35@6.50; vealers 25@50c off; kinds average 100 pounds and below show most decline.

Sheep—receipts 10,000; market fairly active; fat lambs 15@25c up; sheep around 25c off; few early sales desirable fat wooled lambs $16.15@16.25; some held higher; medium clipped lambs $13.00; choice handy weight fat clipped wethers $9.50; clipped ewes $8.50; good wooled ewes $9.00.

Hogs—receipts 31,000; market slow uneven around 5c lower; top $7.40; bulk of sales $7.05@7.40; heavy wt. (250-350 lbs.) medium choice $7.15@7.40; medium wt. (200-250 lbs.) medium choice $7.10@7.40; light wt. (160-200 lbs.) common choice $6.70@7.35; light wt. (130-160 lbs.) common choice $5.75@7.10; packing hogs, smooth $6.75@6.90; packing hogs, rough $6.55@6.75; slaughtering pigs, (130 lbs. down) medium choice $4.25@6.25.

Slaughter Cattle and Calves:

Steers—(1100 lbs. up) choice and prime $11.25@12.25; good $10.00@11.50; medium $8.00@10.35. (1100 lbs. down) choice and prime $10.85@11.85; good $9.75@11.25; medium $8.00@10.00; common $6.00@8.00.

Cows—Good and choice $6.25@9.50; common and medium $3.90@6.25; canners and cutters $2.25@3.90.

Calves—Cull choice (190 lbs. down) $4.00@10.00; medium choice (260 lbs. up) $4.75@8.25.

Feeders and Stocker Cattle—Steers, common choice $5.50@9.50.

Slaughter Sheep and Lambs—Lambs, medium prime (84 lbs. down) $14.00@16.25; culls common (all weights) $11.00@14.00; ewes, common to choice $6.25@10.00; canners and culls $2.50@6.25.

Omaha Livestock.

OMAHA, April 24.—Cattle: receipts 4,800. The fat cattle market showed further weakness Thursday and practically all grades of beef steers are selling slowly at levels 25@40c lower than a week ago. Dealers attribute the slump this week to the heavy receipts and the Jewish holidays. Cows and heifers also ruled weak at Wednesday's decline and prices are 25@50c lower than last week for everything in the way of butcher and canner stock. Trade in stockers and feeders continue reasonably active at good firm figures.

Sales of beef steers:

HOGS—receipts 11,000. Surrounding influences were again largely of a pessimistic character and local trade failed to display any recuperative power on the initial rounds this morning. The few early sales made to yard traders and shippers were on a steady to 5c lower basis, while the packer market was at a standstill early with bids ten cents lower. Bulk of sales was at $6.75@6.90 with early top $6.95.

Sales of hogs today:

No.	Av.	Price	No.	Av.	Price
26	227	$6.70	60	239	$6.90
45	216	6.80	35	288	6.90

56	222	6.85	57	316	6.95
36	273	6.90

SHEEP—receipts 4,200. Further weakness was apparent in the fat lamb trade this morning despite the fact that supplies were rather light and initial transactions were at slightly lower levels. The shearer lamb trade was without feature and the market quotably weak. Aged sheep were quoted weak at yesterday's sharp break.

OMAHA, April 24.—Cattle: receipts 4,800; market steers slow, 10@15c lower; yearlings $6.75@11.00; steers $8.25@11.85; cows and heifers $2.00@9.00; stockers and feeders $4.00@9.35; calves $4.00@9.50; bulls and stags $4.00@7.00.

Hogs—receipts 11,000; market 5c lower; bulk $6.75@6.90; top $6.95.

Sheep—receipts 4,200; market weak; yearlings $10.00@12.50; wethers $9.00@11.00; lambs $14.50@16.00; ewes $7.50@10.50.

New York Liberty Bonds.

NEW YORK, April 24.—U. S. Liberty bonds were quoted here today as follows: 3½'s 99 16-32; first 4¼'s 100 2-32; second 4¼'s 100 1-32; third 4¼'s 100 5-32; fourth 4¼'s 100 2-32; new 4¼'s 101.18-32.

Stock Market Opinions.

Post & Flagg: The general market could easily have substantial advance if matters satisfactorily move at Washington.

Thomson McKinnon: It is advisable to be cautious about the selling side.—Lamson.

Financial News Summary.

Senate passes soldier bonus bill providing twenty-year insurance policy, cash option defeated.

Contended by important interests that nearby development in general situation will be even more potent factors than short coverings in bringing about big upturn in prices.

Borrowing of stocks continued on large scale yesterday, but did not include as many issues as previously.

Rumored in connection advance in Pere Marquette that divident will be increased to 5 per cent.—Lamson.

Wall Street Journal Review.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Leading industrials made further progress on week's rally in early dealing deriving impetus from the senate's adoption of the soldier bonus measure providing for twenty year insurance policy instead of cash payment.

THE McNARY-HAUGEN BILL.

Omaha World-Herald: Politics is getting so all mixed up that it is hard to tell which from t'other.

Here is the sedate Lincoln chamber of commerce endorsing the McNary-Haugen bill.

"I wonder if you are aware of the dangers that lurk in this piece of proposed legislation. It seems incomprehensible to me that any sane man would think it would work. The scrip feature is utterly ridiculous. It is a face-saver for the present administration, or designed to be. Normalcy was promised in 1920. It nasn't come, and here is another election coming on. The McNary-Haugen bill is put up to make the farmers believe the administration is for them. The administration would show better faith by reducing the tariff."

Enclosed with this letter are editorials from the Nebraska Union Farmer, the official paper of an important farm group.

The editor of that publication, L. S. Herron, brands as "wholly unwarranted" the assumption that the McNary-Haugen bill would boost the price of farm products. He says: "Our opinion is that the plan would break down of its own weight in a very short time." And he adds:

"The whole scheme is on the bootstrap-lifting order, artificial, cumbersome, expensive and bureaucratic, and offers no assurance that it would accomplish the purpose for which it is proposed."

In another editorial he writes that this plan "to attempt to maintain domestic prices of farm products by dumping the surplus abroad and assessing the losses back to the farmers, might easily result in assessing back losses as great as the gains."

"And in yet another editorial the editor of the Nebraska Union Farmer writes:

"We can but marvel at the persistence of our statesmen of all parties in Washington in devising schemes to put the farmers on an artificial basis along with the highly protected manufacturers, when the simpler method would be to put the manufacturers on a natural basis. Instead of concocting various bootstrap-lifting schemes to put the price of farm products out of line with the world level, why not reduce the excessive tariff duties on manufactured goods and bring them down to the world level? ......

"Lower tariff duties would permit the people of Europe to sell more goods to us, and thereby enable them to buy more of our farm products. Thus our foreign market would be improved. Improved markets, both at home and abroad would certainly increase prices for farm products. Furthermore the general increase in trade and commerce would cause a more rapid circulation of money, and that would tend to increase the price level.

"Our present condition is due to too much tinkering with natural economic laws. We cannot get permanent relief by further tinkering. What we need is to get back on a natural basis all around."

Let the Lincoln chamber of commerce put that in its pipe and smoke it.

Mr. Herron, speaking for the farmers, reasons soundly, on a basis of correct understanding of economic principles. On what basis the Lincoln chamber of commerce rests its reasoning we cannot understand. Perhaps it is the familiar principle, "Forgawdssake, let's do something."

Social Sabotage: Smashing Drama

New Republic: Everyone knows the potentialities of the motion picture in propaganda; and everyone knows,too, that attempts in the past to grind somebody's axe by means of the films have been greatly hampered because theater-goers, having paid their good money for a show resent seeing an obvious moral jammed down their throats, whether it be about hundred per cent Americanism or the desirability of eating more of somebody's gluten bread. There exists, however, a large potential non-theatrical audience in this country which might prove more amenable, if some way of getting the films to them could only be invented. We refer, of course, to churches, women's clubs, fraternal orders and schools. Our readers may be interested in knowing that a company called the American Motion picture corporation has now entered the field of non-theatrical movies. It gives a $375 motion picture projection machine to any church or other institution which will rent thirty standardized programs from the company at $25 each.

The character of the programs is suggested in the company's own synopsis of one of them. It includes a story called Social Sabotage, summarized as follows:

Smashing drama based on the announcement of Secretary of State Hughes that the soviet (sic) is actively allied with the communistic efforts to wreck our government. The story tells how such an enterprise might be put into effect, and centers about Daniel Flint, owner of a number of coal mines, whose son and daughter are caught in the toils of bolshevism. Distrustful of his son, the coal magnate on his death bed leaves the mines to his nephew, Roger Strong. Roger endeavors to deal fairly with the miners, but incited by the "reds" under the leadership of the vengeful Russell Flint, they strike. Mob violence follows; Roger Strong is captured and faces a terrible death. Russell Flint, injured in the rioting, is the victim of his own villainy, for he dies on the operating table when, in accordance with his revolutionary schedule the town's electricity is cut off and the surgeons are unable to operate.

To this interesting synopsis we need only add the fact that John E. Edgerton, president of the national association of manufacturers, is chairman of the board of directors of the American motion picture corporation; and that its president and treasurer is William H. Barr, president of the National founders' association. It is well known that Mr. Barr devotes his life to fighting union labor. There seems good ground for believing that in this new activity he has added a powerful weapon to those already at his command.

Edwnia Tells Her Story.

If I were going to give this sketch a title, I would call it "I Decide." My career up to the present appear just a series of drastic decisions. First: I decided to become a business woman. After three futile months, I decided I'd better try teaching. Experience taught that I didn't want to be a teacher. And now I decided to go on the stage. I don't know why. Nobody in my family had been even remotely connected with the stage. But I had heard of Charles Frohman. So I obtained a letter "To Whom it may concern" from the governor of Louisiana, who was a family friend, and one from the attorney general of Oklahoma, and sent these to Mr. Frohman, stating that I wanted to go on the stage and suggesting that he meet me in Chicago to "talk the matter over." This being about halfway, it seemed fair to me. Daniel Frohman answered that letter in all seriousness, stating that their plays were full and he regretted that it was not convenient for either his brother or himself to meet me in Chicago just at that time.—In connection with a story by Mrs. MacDonald in Everybody's Magazine.

"I need a hired man pretty bad," said Farmer Fumblegate. "So I went to town yesterday to try to hire one, but couldn't get any."

"All busy?" asked Farmer Flint.

"Eh-yah!—playing checkers. So when I found I couldn't hire any of 'em, I took a hand in the game, myself."—Kansas City Star.

The Habit of Indecision.

Nautilus Magazine: The habit is often the result of childhood environment, the imitation of parents, or the discouragement instilled by parents and older persons.

The child needs to be encouraged in the habit of conquering. If he is suppressed and discouraged at every turn, he comes to manhood with a great dougt of his own ability. He easily falls into the habit of indecision. When faced with the necessity of making a choice, he fears to do so because he has no confidence in his own judgment.

Like any other habit indecision can be overcome by A NEW MENTAL ATTITUDE TOWARD LIFE One should welcome the opportunity to make decisions, if he finds that he lacks the ability to do so with promptness and courage.

To overcome the lack of self-confidence whenever the necessity for a decision appears on the horizon, make as thorough a study of the factors involved as time will permit.

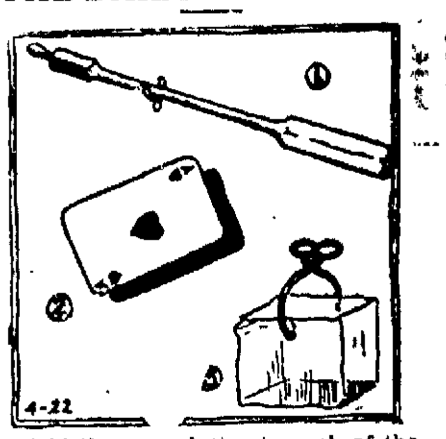

As an illustration, a man wanted to engage in business for himself. He lacked most of the necessary capital, and the business was a highly competitive one. He first made a thorough investigation of the conditions under which other men had started in the same line. He talked with such men and asked questions. Then he went to his bank and asked about the terms upon which credit might be obtained.

As a result, when he came to the actual point of launching his enterprise he had largely overcome his own doubt and indecision by virtue of his knowledge of the process he was to follow. He had idealized the steps he was to take, examined all the factors, and instead of drifting idly and negatively into action he went in with a concentrated determination and a clear understanding of just what he was going to do and how he was going to do it. Under those conditions, he succeeded largely Other men working by his side who possessed better natural equipments for success were comparative failures.

Knowledge and experience will remedy a lac kof self-confidence. Concentrate upon your problem, and try to find a process that will solve it. Work and study to that end. In this way, throught the law of association of ideas, you will gain the needed knowledge and with this will come the sense of power and self-confidence.

But if you allow the mind to dwell in a negative attitude, it will keep you from any constructive work toward a solution.

THE DAILY PUZZLETTE

Add the same letter to each of the three words pictured above so that the result will be as follows: 1. A word which means to make a loud noise. 2. A word which means an athletic competition. 3. A vegetable.

Tolstoi's Angry Wife.

As a young man, Constantin Stanislavsky, Chief Director of the Moscow Art Theatre, was the victim of a "dressing down" by the wife of Tolstoi. Summoned by the great writer to consult with hi mregarding the revising of an act of Tolstoi's play, The Power of Darkness, says Mr. Stanislavsky in The Forum, I went at once and Tolstoi received me in one of the rooms of his Moscow house. He was not satisfied with the performances nor with the play itself.

"Tell me again how you thought of changing the fourth act. I will change it, and you will play it." Tolstoi said this so simply that I found it just as simple to explain my plan, which had long slipped from my memory.

We spoke a very long time, without knowing that his wife, Sofia Andreyevna, and the family were in the next room.

Imagine for a moment Sofia Andreyevna's position. She was always very jealous of her husband. And here was some young man taking the masterpiece of her husband and presuming to teach its talented creator how it should be written. This was the height of impudence if one did not know what had taken place before.

Sofia Andreyevna could not bear it. She ran into the room and attacked me. I confess I got a fine dressing-down. I would have got even a finer one if Maria Lvovna, the daughter, had not come in and quieted her mother. During the whole scene eLo Nikolaevitch sat without moving, calmly playing with his beard. He did not utter a single word to defend me.

And when his wife left us, and I remained completely nonplussed, he smiled courteously and said: "Don't pay any attention to it. She is very nervous and in a bad humor." Then turning back to our broken conversation, he continued: "And so, where did we stop?"

Conflicting dates, it was learned, have made it impossible for the University of Washington and the naval academy rowing crews to meet in a race this summer.

MEN AND THINGS

The biennial cry for the repeal of the primary is ascending heavenward in Nebraska. It always is heard just after one is over, and before all of the dead and the dying are carried off the field. The people, it seems, make so many mistakes at these primaries, they are so easily the victims of the fakirs in politics, that the matter ought to be taken out of their hands and put into the hands of those who will take time off their own private business and be delegates to the conventions. Most of these critics fail to recollect that every evil attached to the primary is duplicated in the election, and we do not observe any attempt to do away with the election. The primary's real evils can be cured only by the short ballot, but that cause seems to be making about as much headway as the movement to reduce taxes.

The idea back of the McNary-Haughen bill is that as a matter of business we ought to make all branches of agriculture prosperous. We have had it inculcated in our economic teaching that agriculture is the basic industry, and if it be not prosperous then no other industry can long be prosperous. So, say we, let's make the basic industry profitable and we will all make money. Lots of people said we couldn't make water run uphill, but we did it. Lots of people said that we couldn't fix wages by legislation, but we did it for the railroad men. Bring on your old economic laws, and watch us put a twist in them.

An unusually large percentage of the persons working in the home yards this spring are women. It is very gratifying to note that women are turning to this form of exercise. The stooping over, the back and forth movements of the arms when using the rake, the carrying of the basket filled with dry grass, all these bring into play muscles that are seldom used in housework or bridge playing, and the result is certain to be an added gracefulness to the carriage, a rounding out of the contours and a swing to the walk. In view of these benefits to the women we trust that the men will not insist upon their right to do this work. Chief Johnstone will positively not furnish protection to men in this matter.

The prune growers are declared to be in a bad way because the price of prunes was boosted to such heights by a close organization of growers that hundreds of others figured this was a sure road to wealth and went into it themselves. Now more prunes are being produced than can be consumed, and the prices are so low that there is no money in the business. Well, what are they bothering us about the matter for, why don't they go down to congress and get their prices fixed to suit them, too. Anyway, what does a man who will go into so ignominious a business as raising prunes expect?

All newspaper editors who are not newspaper owners will approve the innovation in the matter of dealing with professors who have lost their popularity with the regents and the students. The board has adopted the policy of giving these professors leisure to study and write. The studying will improve their knowledge and their style, and the writings will add to their incomes if they find a ready sale. If the state sets so worthy an example, possibly the newspaper owners will follow suit. The fact that it is all done on somebody else's time ought not to be allowed to detract from the generosity of the occasion.

The fact that not one of the prosecutions that were started against men who sold worthless stocks to farmers and others during the time when we thought we were riding on the top of the world shows that our present statutes are ineffective against this form of fraud. We propose urging upon the next legislature that the law be amended so as to make it an offense for anyone to buy worthless stocks. The element of crime is present in each purchase. If a man will persist in impoverishing his family in this way, why should we not punish him as we do the man who insists on paying $5 a pint to bootleggers?

When a few months ago it was proposed to have the flying ship "Shenandoah" fitted out at public expense for a trip to the north pole President Coolidge ordered that the work which had already been begun by some enthusiasts be abandoned. Why did not the president forbid the silly and expensive trip that is now in progress to show that if an airplane holds out one can travel around the world in it? Is the airplane vote so large that any attention need be paid to it?

ABE MARTIN

One trouble about bein' mentioned fer president is that it makes us too big fer a pustioffice If that girl in th' carpet sweeper ad does ever decide t' marry an' settle down, we'll bet she kin marry th' best feller in town.

BRAIN TESTS
(By Sam Loyd)

7 Minutes to Answer This.

Aunt Mary bought some peanuts for the children and gave to the eldest, a boy, one peanut and one-quarter of the remainder. To the next in age, a girl, she likewise gave one peanut and one-quarter of the remainder. To the third, a boy, she also gave one peanut and one-quarter of the remainder. The little tot also received one peanut and one-quarter of what was left.

It was then found that the boys had received one hundred more peanuts than the girls. From these facts you are asked to determine how many peanuts Aunt Mary kept for herself.

Answer to Yesterday's.
